Ready to Stop Clocks Ending Marathon Sessions in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature was set to wind up its 1966 session today by passing a $260-million supplemental budget and voting hefty increases in the pay and expense allowances of state lawmakers.

It will be remembered as the longest session in modern times.

Travia, Brydges Confident
Speaker Anthony J. Travia said he expected to adjourn the Assembly by the official closing hour by a resolution adopted last week — 4 p.m.

A spokesman for Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges declined to speculate on the exact time but expressed confidence that all business would be concluded by day's end.

By custom, if the adjournment hour approaches and more time is needed, the legislators stop the clocks in their chambers and keep working.

The last major obstacle to adjournment was cleared away during the weekend when Republican and Democratic leaders of the Legislature reached agreement on the supplemental budget bill.

The measure is offered annually toward the close of the session to cover spending needs not determined when the main budget was adopted.

Rockefeller originally proposed supplemental spending of about $360 million, while Travia, the Legislature's ranking Democrat, had demanded economy reductions of $130 million.

Details of the money bill and the nature of the dispute over it were kept secret during the negotiations.

Kingston Savings Interest Rate Is Increased to 4.75

An anticipated increase to 4 3/4 per cent in the interest-dividend rate on all savings was announced today by Kingston Savings Bank.

The new higher rate is anticipated for the quarter which began July 1, with continued favorable earnings, according to Lloyd R. LeFever, president. It applies to school savings as well as regular savings.

Interest dividends are compounded and credited four times a year, and are paid from date of deposit at Kingston Savings Bank. The bank, a mutual savings bank, is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Other banking houses in Kingston were contacted today and none has taken any action toward increasing interest rates at this time.

Sees New Rift in Red Bloc Talks

Differ on Forces In Warsaw Pact

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — A summit meeting of Soviet bloc leaders continued today amid indications of a new clash between the Soviet Union and little Romania over control of the Warsaw Pact's military forces.

Romania's official press gave no progress report on the meeting of the Communist counterpart to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Soviet press made no mention of discussion and treated the meeting as a reaffirmation of solidarity.

Opened Monday
The seven-nation meeting opened Monday at the former royal palace and continued today but there apparently was a delay. At 9 a.m. and again at 10, spokesmen said the meeting had resumed. But it was 11 a.m. before the delegations arrived.

There were strong indications that a compromise over control of the member nations' armies had broken down.

The Soviet Union has been trying to obtain tighter control over approximately a million troops committed to the alliance. Romania has insisted that small pact members have a louder voice.

Official spokesmen reported Monday that the first meeting had lasted about 45 minutes. Actually, it dissolved into a three-hour confrontation between the Russians and the Romanians.

Start Wandering
Some 45 minutes after it opened in the old throne room of the palace the first delegations began wandering out.

Within half an hour the Bulgarian, Czech, East German, Hungarian and Polish delegations had departed. That left only the Russians, led by Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, and the Romanians, headed by party leader Nicolai Ceausescu.

Their foreign ministers soon left. Defense ministers and the alliance's military commander, Soviet Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, stayed.

The Kremlin has been trying for about a year to give the pact a more centralized command than the present loose arrangement. Efficiency and the ability to react quickly were given the reasons. Romania countered (Continued on Page 21, Col. 7)

Push Heaviest U.S. Satellite With 10 Tons Fuel Into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's heaviest satellite — a 29-ton rocket stage like that which one day will propel astronauts to the moon — vaulted into orbit today. It was filled with 10 tons of liquid hydrogen in an engineering test to determine if this high-energy fuel has at last been harnessed for space use.

The 17-story-tall Saturn 1 rocket, most powerful ever fired by the United States, thundered off its launching pad at 10:50 a.m. (EDT) on the 1.6-million pounds of thrust and trailed a plume of fire more than 500 feet long as it darted into the sky.

Stages Ignites
Eight minutes later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the 92-foot second stage had ignited with a 200,000-pound thrust burst and drilled itself into an orbit about 118 miles above the earth.

The launching was held up nearly two hours because of the failure of one of two television cameras located in the fuel tank to monitor behavior of liquid hydrogen fuel. Flight controllers finally decided to launch with only one of the cameras operating.

A tracking station at Bermuda reported receiving clear pictures from the camera as the huge stage passed overhead several minutes after liftoff. The controller at Bermuda reported the photos showed that the hydrogen was "very stable" and was "behaving itself very well" with only an occasional ripple on the surface.

Provided Thrust
The report said gases evaporating from the hydrogen were being expelled properly to provide a small amount of thrust to help settle the volatile fuel.

Officials said several hours would be required to determine how successful the mission was. They termed the early portion highly successful.

Success would clear the way for the launching of an unmanned Apollo moon ship in August and the flight of a three-man Apollo crew on an earth orbit mission in November. Both would be boosted by Saturn 1 rockets.

Note City Mishaps Minor, Some Cited

Holiday traffic mishaps were minor in the city, but police booked several drivers in charges, including two after a downtown mishap Saturday. Point Beach was reported maliciously released from its moorings, and three city burglaries were reported.

High Temperatures
Weatherwise locally two days of the long weekend brought record temperatures. A high of 101 degrees was reported Saturday. The previous high, as recorded at the City Engineer's office for July 2 was 100 in 1955 and 1958. In New York City it was hotter Saturday with 107 recorded at LaGuardia Airport.

Sunday was a scorcher here with a record 106. The closest to that for July 3 was 100 in 1949. Monday was cool by comparison here with 92 recorded. The July 4 high locally was 102 in 1949. A 76 reported at 10 a.m. today indicated no possible record by mid-afternoon.

Two drivers involved in a mishap on East Strand near the Miron Lumber yard early Saturday afternoon were charged with driving while intoxicated. They were: Chaimon Edwards, 63, of 49 East Pierpont Street and Joseph Washington, 42, of 238 East Union Street, Washington reported a back injury and Edwards an injury of the right shoulder. Officers Gerald Tierney and Jerry Vitek investigated.

In the only other reportable weekend city traffic mishap Ruth C. Freer, 48, of 79 Bayard Street, Port Ewen, driver of one of two cars in an accident at Washington and Lucas Avenues, reported abrasions of the right arm and was treated by a doctor. Police said the other car was driven by Richard C. Sleight, 19, of RD 2, Box 94, Kingston.

Milton Infant, 5, Drowning Victim

The death of a Brooklyn woman in a Greene County traffic accident and drownings in Orange and Dutchess Counties marked the area's only fatal accidents over the long 4th of July weekend as Ulster escaped any major mishaps.

A statewide toll by the Associated Press for the period from 6 p.m. Friday through midnight Monday showed a total of 59 deaths, including 31 from traffic accidents, 19 from drownings, and 9 from other causes.

The area victims included: Sarah Morrar, 37, of Brooklyn, who died as the result of a one-car accident about 5 p.m. on Route 23A about 1 1/2 miles east of Lexington in the Town of Lexington, Greene County; Cheryl Laforce, 5, of Milton, who drowned in Winona Lake near Newburgh, Orange County, and LeRoy Richman, of Yonkers, who drowned in Whaley Lake, southeast of Poughkeepsie in Dutchess County.

Suffered Skull Fracture
Dr. Joseph Hudes, Greene County coroner, gave a verdict of accidental death in the Greene County traffic fatality. He said that the victim died of a skull fracture.

Emilie Hilwe, 43, also of Brooklyn, driver of the car, was reported in satisfactory condition today in Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, where she was taken for treatment of contusions and punctures of the legs.

State Police at Leeds substitution said that Mrs. Hilwe was driving east on Rt. 23A nearing a curve to the left when her car ran off the shoulder of the road, went up a steep embankment, and turned over, coming to a rest on its roof above a left bank.

Investigator Michael Matterna of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation investigated with Troopers J. P. Mills and D. S. Sager. Most area law enforcement agencies reported a "normal" summer weekend as far as activity was concerned, although State Police—particularly on the Thruway detail—reported considerable traffic early Monday as pleasure-seekers evidently headed home to avoid late hour traffic.

Numerous Investigations
A number of accidents and arrests were recorded by troopers throughout the Ulster County area over the holiday weekend, showing an increase in patrol activity.

Ralph Carlice, 49, of 148 Stockton Street, Trenton, N. J., was scheduled to appear later today before Peace Justice Arthur A. Bently, Town of Ulster, on charges of public intoxication and having an open container of an alcoholic beverage on the Thruway.

He was arrested near Milepost 91 on the superhighway by Trooper Joseph Stinton of the Troop T detail. It was one of a number of mounting arrests by troopers under the recently enacted law which makes it illegal to have an open container of an alcoholic beverage in one's possession while on the Thruway.

Carlice was charged with having an open container of wine in his possession.

Tokyo Will Keep Up Its Contacts With Red China

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Japan told the United States today it will continue its contacts with Communist China to help Peking break out of self-imposed isolation.

Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shima expressed the Japanese government's view as he and U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk opened the fifth annual meeting of Japanese and American Cabinet officers.

Keep Marchers Away
The three-day conference convened with leftist demonstrators marching in the streets of ancient Kyoto to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam. A heavy police guard kept the 2,000 marchers a third of a mile from the conference hall.

Shima told Rusk and four other U.S. Cabinet members attending the closed meeting that the Chinese Communists seemed pragmatic in their actions toward Japan despite verbal attacks on its government.

Rusk indicated a much harsher assessment of Peking. The Japanese foreign minister said it was unclear whether the purge in Communist China meant a power struggle or an ideological change. "At any rate there is tension" on the mainland, he said.

Rusk said in the past 18 months Communist China had suffered "severe reverses" and "growing isolation" from the rest of the world but was "continuing its hostility and intransigence toward the United States and the rest of the world."

Rusk reassured the Japanese that "the United States is seeking every possible avenue to find peace" in Viet Nam. Shima expressed the hope for a prompt peaceful settlement. Neither mentioned the recent U.S. (Continued on Page 18, Col. 5)

U.S. Toll Hits 567, Sets New 4th High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The worst Fourth of July traffic fatality toll on record was reached over this holiday weekend.

With last-minute figures coming in slowly today, the toll stood at 567 traffic deaths on the nation's highways to surpass in a three-day period the four-day record set in 1963.

Drownings with 215 were sharply higher than last year's figure of 114. Boating accidents accounted for 52 deaths.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 510 and 610 persons would die in traffic accidents this holiday period.

But there was an optimistic word from Howard Pyle, council president, even as the death toll mounted. Said Pyle: "After years of inadequate official attention to (Continued on Page 18, Col. 6)

Push Air Attacks On North Targets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy fighter-bombers attacked two North Vietnamese torpedo boats off Haiphong early today as the air war against the Communist North continued without letup.

Pilot Rescued
One of the two A4 Skyhawks that caught the torpedo boats 38 miles southeast of the main North Vietnamese port was shot down, but the pilot was plucked from the Gulf of Tonkin by a rescue helicopter. A U.S. spokesman said he did not know if the torpedo boats were hit.

Navy and Air Force planes flew a record 91 multiplane missions against North Viet Nam Monday. The Fourth of July targets included an oil storage area 19 miles southeast of Haiphong.

An estimated 250 to 300 planes made the raids, a number which a qualified officer said was above the average for the 16-month-old air war against the North. It was not a record number for a single day's raid, however.

The Navy planes also hit an oil storage area 25 miles west of Thanh Hoa, down the coast, as the intensified assault on North Viet Nam's fuel supplies continued.

Little Ground Action
U.S. military headquarters reported relatively little ground action in South Viet Nam, but it appeared that the Communists may have targeted isolated Special Forces camps for the victory that has so far been denied them in the 1966 monsoon season.

Viet Cong raiders made four attacks on the lonely outposts in the past three days. The heaviest action reported Monday involved U.S. Marines near the northern city of Da Nang. With the help of air strikes and artillery barrages they reported killing 154 Viet Cong in various fights.

Same General Area
The attack on the torpedo boats came in the same general area where Navy planes sank three similar North Vietnamese vessels Friday as they were headed for the 7th Fleet frigate Coontz. Nineteen North Vietnamese sailors were captured.

The two Skyhawks took off from the carrier Constellation at 2:30 a.m. today after the torpedo boats had been picked up by radar in a cluster of islands. The planes dropped flares, and were fired on. The Skyhawks attacked the boats with rockets and but soon afterward one of the Skyhawks went down. Navy and Air Force search planes also reported anti-aircraft fire from the shore.

The downed pilot was rescued about 7:30 a.m. by a Navy helicopter from the carrier Kearsarge. His name was withheld. It was the 278th U.S. plane reported lost in action over North Viet Nam and the Tonkin Gulf.

Quit Viet, Is Cry Abroad on Holiday

LONDON (AP) — "Americans get out of Viet Nam" was the familiar rallying cry as chanting crowds, many of them Communist-organized, staged Fourth of July protest demonstrations around the world.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was the target of about 5,000 screaming Japanese leftists as he arrived in Japan for an economic conference. Police slipped him out of Osaka Airport by a back road.

In Paris, about 25 Americans began a march on the U.S. Embassy to deliver a protest petition and French Communists moved in and swept the group into a fist-swinging clash with police. The crowd of 700 applauded when an American flag held aloft a burning American flag "as a symbol for what's (Continued on Page 18, Col. 3) happening in Viet Nam—for the Americans to get out."

British police stopped an attempt to burn the American flag at the U.S. Embassy in London where U.S. Ambassador David Bruce was holding an Independence Day reception. Two supporters of the British pacifist "Committee of 100" crashed the party but were hustled out when one of them proposed a toast "to the dead and dying in Hanoi and Haiphong and the American withdrawal from Viet Nam."

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson yielded to demands from members of his Labor party and scheduled debate in the House of Commons Thursday on the extended bombings of North Viet Nam.

Talks Resumed In Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts to end the 73-day-old publication holdup of the World Journal Tribune Inc. resume today after a four-day holiday recess.

Negotiations were scheduled between the corporation and the pressmen's and mailers' unions. The two unions are the only ones among the 10 in the industry that have not reached at least tentative agreement with the corporation.

Chief mediator David L. Cole said Monday: "I think agreement can be reached in the next few days. Both the unions and the publisher have indicated a (Continued on Page 21, Col. 4)

No Noise Monday In Park That Was Scene of Gun Duel

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — A racially mixed group of 100 used swimming facilities at a state park Monday where Negroes and whites had battled with rocks and bottles several days before.

The battle, June 24, sparked acts of vandalism during the following two days and culminated in a 30-minute gun battle between whites and Negroes last Tuesday night.

No one was reported injured.

Civil Service Exam

The Board of Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Military Academy, West Point, has announced an examination for the position of Boiler Fireman (Oil), WB-7, with a beginning wage of $2.69 per hour. Information as to the duties and experience requirements may be obtained by contacting that office or at any Post Office. Applications must be filed with the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Military Academy, West Point, 10996 for positions at West Point and other Federal agencies within a 35-mile radius of West Point. Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

in the gun battle, but the violence prompted Cordele city officials to clamp an all-night curfew on this south Georgia city of 11,500 which was still in effect today.

Col. Lowell Conner, director of the Department of Public Safety, was on hand Monday with 100 state troopers to prevent further violence as about 50 of the integrated group swam in the swimming pool where the melee had erupted earlier.

Whites had used the pool earlier in the day but left. The integrated group was ignored by families who spread picnic lunches on a riverbank in the Georgia Veterans Park about 500 yards away. Other white bathers swam in Lake Blackshear about a half mile from the pool.

State troopers checked every car as it entered the park. One person was arrested for carrying a pistol, and a machete and broomstick were confiscated from another automobile.

Tank trucks hauled water from Cordele to fill the pool, and it was ready for swimmers on the Fourth.

Man Stabbed Fatally

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Fowler, 23, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., was stabbed to death early Sunday at Orchard Beach in the Bronx, police reported.

Officers said two women who were with Fowler said he had gotten in an argument with a stranger, who pulled a knife and stabbed him several times.

The incident occurred about 5 a.m. People are supposed to be out of the park at midnight.

Fowler lived at 724 S. Sixth St., Mount Vernon.

County 4-Hers Complete First Week of Camp

The first week of the eighth camping season at the Ulster County 4-H Camp ended Friday, July 1, with the gala water carnival. Mrs. Dale Farrow, water-front director, and the camp staff planned an exciting program for the campers this year.

The program of the carnival consists of a number of races geared to each level of swimming proficiency. Events planned for the beginners included a breath-holding race; a ping-pong race, which entails blowing a ping-pong ball across the shallow section of the pool; and a fill the cup race, in which the campers must fill cups with water using tablespoons.

Advanced beginners participated in a plate race, where they must gather plates which have been thrown into the pool, and a potato race, in which the campers must balance potatoes on spoons which are to be held in their mouths as they go across the pool.

The intermediates assumed the pose of spies for the James Bond race; they had to swim silently. They also blew ping-pong balls while swimming across the pool in their ping-pong race and balanced a full cup of water on a saucer in the palm of their hands while they swam the length of the pool.

The swimmers swam with their legs in a Yogi position in the swimming Yogi race. They also had a racing crawl event and a changing race which involves two campers who must wear clothes over their bathing suits, swim across the pool, remove the clothes and give them to their partners who must dress in the wet clothing.

Advanced Activities
The life-saving class demonstrated some of the skills they had learned during the week in their races. Their first event was the disrobing race in which they must remove a sweatshirt, pants and sneakers and make a buoy out of the pants. Their second event was a saving race in which they had to perform a complete rescue on a struggling victim.

A traditional highlight in the water carnival is the high dive contest. Participants dive over a metered pole trying not to knock it off the end poles. This year the all-time record of four feet, two inches was broken by several of the camp's better divers.

Another traditional event held this year was the watermelon fight. A greased watermelon was thrown into the pool and members of the staff tried to hold onto it and get it on land. Probably the most spectacular

Note Other Mishaps

Mrs. Catherine Albrect, 67, of Long Island City, Long Island, was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance after she had fallen and fractured her leg. The accident happened about 12:20 Sunday while Mrs. Albrect was dancing. At 9:30 a.m. Sunday Mrs. Laslo Subecz, 54, of Bronx, lost control of her car on Samsonville Road at Krumville, the car left the highway, went over an embankment and struck a tree. She was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance for treatment of head injuries. Robert Teller of 55 Mountain View Avenue, Hurley, was taken to Kingston Hospital Sunday by Fatum Ambulance for treatment of facial injuries after his car was involved in an accident in the Town of Hurley. Deputy Sheriffs James Milesky and Harry Dohnken investigated.

aspect of this year's water carnival were the decorations. The theme of the decoration was Red Eye, a monster well known in camp through ghost stories. The pool water was transformed into an orange waterland with food coloring. A huge picture crepe paper and balloons completed the display.

Some 110 youngsters participated in the first week of camp activities which include crafts, first aid and conservation training. There will be two more weeks of camp activities for children 9 to 16 years of age.

Worth Knowing

A student, talking about where words come from, explained that the carriage was named after the Hungarian town of Kocs (pronounced coach) where it was introduced in the 16th century. A private tutor who helped college men prepare for their tests in the 19th century was called a "coach" because he helped carry his students through their exams. The term caught on and "coach" gradually came to mean anyone who trained students, and now especially applies to those who train athletes. May we coach you on where to find terrific value and satisfaction? Come to us!

Reminds Veterans Of Benefits Under Latest 1966 Law

Post-Korean war veterans were urged today by Mrs. Donald Snell, volunteer chairman of Services to Military Families of the Ulster County Red Cross Chapter to take advantage of benefits now available to them under a law signed by President Johnson March 3.

Mrs. Snell said, "Ulster County Red Cross is eager to help all veterans apply for these benefits and invites them to make an appointment to visit chapter headquarters at 308 Clinton Avenue, Kingston."

The new law, the Veterans' Readjustment Act of 1966 (PL 89-358), would enable veterans with at least three years of service after January 31, 1955, to attend college for four scholastic years—36 months—full time. Single veterans will get a $100-a-month allowance from the government; veterans with dependents, allotments somewhat larger.

Veterans with less than three years of military service may receive allowances for as many months of education as the time they served.

Courses may be taken at approved colleges and universities, high schools, and correspondence schools.

Other benefits under Public Law 89-358, which became effective June 1, 1966 are these:

Loans Guaranteed

Guaranty of loans for homes for ex-servicemen. It is anticipated 64,000 such loans will be guaranteed in the first year and 500,000 in the first five years. Maximum loan possible will be $17,500.

Hospitalization is now available for peacetime veterans. Four thousand nursing home beds have been authorized in addition to the 125,000 hospital beds in Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Veterans preference for federal employment.

Job counseling and employment placement.

Service connection for certain chronic diseases on a presumptive basis. This type of service connection was previously granted only to wartime veterans.

Entitlement to a burial flag.

Extension of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act to cover "Cold War" veterans.

Mrs. Snell said it is estimated that many veterans in Ulster County are eligible for benefits under the provisions of the new law.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If you have a birdbath, you know how soiled and slimy the bottom can get.

If you are tired of scrubbing it week after week, maybe this little tip will help you:

After scrubbing the birdbath (for the last time) line it with plastic wrap off that roll in your kitchen!

When you are ready to change the water next time, simply pour it out, replace the plastic and have a cleaner, more beautiful birdbath.

Bird Lover

Dear Heloise:

If you have stuck or burned food in a pan, just dump the coffee grounds from your still warm percolator into the pan. Let it stand for a while, then stir the grounds around in the pan.

Besides loosening the stuck or burned on food, the coffee grounds also absorb the grease in the pan.

Mrs. V.M.P.

The grounds don't even have to be warm to be effective. I have used wadded-up pieces of newspaper to rub the grounds around in the pan. The grounds are abrasive and do a good cleaning job . . . and the newspaper can be used to pick up the mess to put it in the garbage can.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When you first get a little puppy, he usually whines and cries for several nights. If you put a clock in with the puppy, the puppy will like the ticking sound and there will be no more sleepless nights for him—or you.

It works like a charm.

Mrs. F. O. Parker

Dear Heloise:

Here is a very good way to have privacy when sleeping or camping out in a station wagon: On the inside of the windows, use the type of aerosol window cleaner spray that leaves a white film when dry.

When you get up and have dressed in the morning, just wipe off the windows, and you will have all clean, clear windows.

Dear Heloise:

To encourage toast eating in the morning, I cut the pieces of toast into odd-sized pieces, then mix them up. 1/4 1/4 1/4

I call this "puzzle toast."

Sometimes I sprinkle "sparkle sugar" on the toast.

Dear Heloise:

To remove ugly black heel marks from my tile or wood floors, I use toothpaste on a soft cloth or sponge.

It works like magic and has never marred the wax.

LBJ Continuing Stay at Ranch

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson continues a holiday stay at his ranch today playing one of the games he seems to enjoy best: keeping 'em guessing.

Johnson, more secretive about travel plans than any president in memory, was saying not a word about his eventual return to the White House. Guesses, admittedly uneducated, ranged from tonight to next Monday.

The President flew to his ranch home, some 60 miles north of here, last Thursday after making speeches concerning Viet Nam in Omaha and Des Moines. He ordered an exhaustive study of the military draft Saturday and, on the Fourth of July, signed a freedom of information bill designed to build into federal law the concept of "the people's right to know."

With specified exceptions, such as national security matters, information in federal files will have to be made public to newsmen and private citizens starting July 4, 1967.

If not, an individual can bring action in the federal courts where the burden of proof would be on the government to establish that withholding information meets the exemptions.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, no one — with the possible exception of wife Lady Bird and trusted aides — had any information about the President's future plans, even a day ahead.

Frank Best Dies, Was Cited by Wilson

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Frank E. Best, who developed a master key system during his early teaching years in Jamestown, N.Y., is dead at 83.

Best also was the creator of a World War I anti-submarine warfare plan, for which he later received personal congratulations from President Woodrow Wilson.

Best, who died Saturday, was chairman of the board of Best Universal Lock Co. Inc., Indianapolis, and Best Lock Corp., Indianapolis and Wilmington, Del. Over the years, he patented more than 100 devices, including the system of one key opening varied locks.

Survivors include a brother, Ernest, of Fredonia, N.Y.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®.

GI's KEY TO VICTORY

A majority of Americans are in favor of stepped-up bombing of North Viet Nam, according to recent public opinion polls.

Nothing could be a better gauge of the rising tide of frustration and impatience in this country with a war that is seemingly getting no place. Nor could anything better illustrate the old maxim that we learn from history only that we do not learn from history.

Americans should not so quickly have forgotten the lessons of World War II. Nothing stiffened the resistance of the British more than Hitler's attempt to destroy London from the air and bomb the island into submission.

When its turn came, England's obliteration of Hamburg had no discernible effect upon the duration of the war. It was not three years of intensive bombing of Germany that brought victory but actual invasion and defeat of the Nazi armies in the field.

Bombing, of course, hastened that victory, especially when it began to erode the Reich's petroleum-refining capabilities. But it was not the one decisive factor a generation of military strategists between the two world wars predicted it would be.

And if bombing was not the decisive factor that defeated a highly industrialized nation like Germany, we are foolish to seize upon it as the instrument which, if only wielded vigorously enough, will destroy primitive North Viet Nam's war-making ability and war-making will.

Evidence is accumulating that this nation's bombing raids on both North and South Viet Nam have been highly effective. They have given the enemy soldier no sanctuary, no rest. They have denied him fortified strongholds, even underground, where large numbers of troops can be massed. They have wiped out roads, bridges, railroads and seriously hampered his mobility.

Bombs from America's high-flying B-52s, against which the Viet Cong is defenseless, have destroyed vast quantities of supplies and sealed an unknown number of men inside their jungle tunnels.

Despite all this, North Vietnamese troops are infiltrating into the south at an increasing rate, and they are meeting Americans in ground combat with an increasing fury. We are often told that the war in Viet Nam is an "unconventional war," not like the war that was fought in Europe. Yet in one respect the two are the same, as all wars are the same.

In the final analysis, it was the soldier on the ground who brought World War II to a conclusion. It is only the soldier slugging it out with the enemy in the jungle who can do it in Viet Nam.

Americans will have to steel themselves to accept this fact, and to expect lengthening casualty lists before Hanoi begins to talk seriously about a negotiated peace.

The use of nuclear weapons is out of the question, and there is no other shortcut to victory.

DANGER IN A POOL

A backyard pool, as a poet once observed about gardens, is a lovely thing, God wot. Especially for children, who know how to make the most of any captive body of water. Yet, captive or not, the water in a pool is a threat as well as a joy. Any who doubt that need only reflect on the summer drownings. And just as the young know best how to enjoy a pool, they are the most vulnerable to its dangers.

The threat, happily, is not hard to counter. Adult supervision whenever children are in the pool is the first essential. Teaching the young to swim is the second. These two simple practices can go a long way toward pulling the fangs of the danger that lurks beneath the backyard pool's glimmering surface.

THE DISEASE OF FEAR

One of the more interesting ideas emphasized in talks at the 115th annual assemblage of the American Medical Association is that the relieving of fear plays an important part in treatment of serious disease. There is growing realization that

DE GAULLE RAISES SOME GHOSTS

The smart people at Radio Liberty, which monitors whatever is being said over the air in the Soviet Union, have not noticed a recurring peculiarity in de Gaulle's method of addressing crowds as he has gone from one Communist reception to another during his visit to the socialist fatherland. He has invariably made it a point to say "Long live Russia," and he always seemed to be saying it in Russian, not in French.

The opinion of the Radio Liberty experts is that there is more in this than meets the ear. For to the Soviets, "Russia" and the ethnic Russian people constitute only a half of the multinational Soviet Union. Indeed, the slogan "Long live Russia" has been frowned upon by the Kremlin ever since the Red armies, by dint of conquest in the Caucasus, Kazakhstan, the Ukraine, Turkmenistan and elsewhere, put together the present-day Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in the Nineteen Twenties. The Kremlin doesn't like to be reminded that the conquest moved outward from Moscow, the Russian capital. To an older generation with long memories, "Long live Russia" has a pre-revolutionary, if not a counter-revolutionary, connotation—and it must seem faintly disturbing to the crowds that have turned out to listen to Le Grand Charles bring greetings to the Soviet peoples from France.

De Gaulle, of course, is a nationalist to whom ideology is only important when it can be used as a counter in the game of diplomacy. It would be natural for him to think of the Soviet Union as "Russia." But he is also an intelligent man with a sense of history, and his manipulation of the slogan "Long live Russia" could hardly be unconscious. The Radio Liberty experts point out that one of de Gaulle's chief advisers on Soviet policy is a man of Russian emigre origin named Andrei Gromyko. Surley, with the expert briefing that is available to him, de Gaulle must realize that the concept of nationalism, in the Soviet Union, has unsettling potentialities.

So what is de Gaulle up to when he invokes a slogan that could only remind Ukrainians, Kazakhs, Tartars, Armenians, Latvians, Lithuanians, Bessarabians and Jews of their conquered status in the Soviet Union? A Soviet Communist, shouting "Long live Russia," would be accused of "bourgeois nationalism." They can't shoot a Frenchman for twanging nationalist strings, but the subtle insult conveyed by de Gaulle's harping on "Russianness" as he is taken about the Soviet Empire must be a bit unnerving to Brezhnev and Kosygin. De Gaulle has often defined Europe as stretching from "the Atlantic to the Urals." Where does this leave the many peoples of Siberia? Will de Gaulle still think of them as "non-European" after his trip to Novosibirsk? The Red Chinese might be particularly interested in this question.

Radio Liberty, unable to find good linguistic experts in the West on the tongues used in the Soviet territories around Tashkent and Samarkand, has recently been recruiting in Turkey for people with the ability to monitor the speech and writings of "Russians," of Turkic and Moslem background. Lands that are smack up against Chinese Turkestan are suddenly important. Some time before de Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union, Howard Sargeant, the president of the Radio Liberty Committee, told the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America that the concept of "polycentrism" was making its appeal among the 109 million Soviet citizens, who are not Russians. Radio Liberty, he said, had received well-authenticated reports that Soviet "anti-colonialist" broadcasts aimed at countries in Africa and Asia were having a boomerang effect in Soviet Uzbekistan and elsewhere in the Moslem sections of the Soviet Empire.

De Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union has had an unsettling effect on the nations of the North Atlantic Alliance. But his invocation of the spirit of nationalism poses problems for the Soviet Union itself that Brezhnev and Kosygin will find hard to handle. Anything that encourages "polycentrism" in one part of the world must encourage it in other parts. A weakened NATO and a weakened Warsaw Pact in eastern Europe must encourage Uzbeks, Estonians, and Ukrainians in their own desires for a more pronounced national identity. When de Gaulle shouts "Long live Russia," there must be hidden voices that whisper "Long live Ukraine" or "Long live Islam."

THE WELL CHILD

Measles (Garden Variety) Differs from German Kind

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother writes that her son has rubella. She requests a listing of all the kinds of measles and would like to know how serious they are and whether measles vaccine will protect against all the different kinds.

Rubella is measles (garden variety). The only other kind is German measles or rubella. Such complications as pneumonia and brain fever are responsible for many deaths each year from rubella.

These are usually seen in preschool children. German measles is not so severe when it affects a child but a source of distress and deformity in the fetus when it is present in the mother during the first three months of pregnancy. Measles vaccine could be given to all children who have not had the disease. How long the resultant immunity will last is not known but it is probably permanent in most children. This vaccine will not protect against German measles but a German measles vaccine is being developed.

There is good evidence that 1966 was starting to be a year of high measles incidence but in those cities where a vigorous campaign of measles vaccination was instituted, the expected epidemic did not materialize.

Q — What would cause my 15-year-old daughter to get severe pains in her chest? The only way she can relieve it is to lie down for a few minutes. When she doesn't lie down, the pain may last five or 10 minutes. She has had these pains for about five years. The doctor can find nothing wrong with her.

A — There are many causes of chest pain but the fact that the pains have been present off and on for five years, are easily relieved and are not associated with any disease your doctor can detect would suggest that they are not serious (pleurisy, tuberculosis or heart disease). They may be referred pains from irritation in the digestive tract or a mild inflammation of the nerves of the chest wall. Unless some other signs or symptoms develop, your daughter had best learn to live with her discomfort.

Q — A friend lets her child play in a full bath tub for 30 minutes at a time. Is there any health hazard in such a practice? She is careful to stay with him so he won't drown.

A — If soap is used, such bathing may lead to excessive drying of the skin and cause generalized itching. Prolonged exposure to water that is warmer than the body temperature is enervating. I know of no other disadvantages.

fear, often based on ignorance, may significantly worsen a patient's condition.

The concept is not a new one. It is one aspect of the well known, though not yet fully understood, fact that the patient's attitude may have much to do with his resistance to disease. The so-called "will to live" is not a poetic figure of speech, but a real factor in how a patient responds to treatment.

Dr. Tinsley R. Harrison of the University of Alabama Medical Center told his colleagues: "Fear must be fought with truth. The doctor must not only be truthful with his patients, but with himself." The point is well taken.

Where There's Light There's Hope---or Is There?

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One year ago two respected Washington observers broke into print almost simultaneously with sweeping summaries of the criticisms then being heaped on President Johnson.

They set the whole town talking. The same week, Johnson named his top aide, Bill D. Moyers, as press secretary in what was widely taken as a move to alter his image.

Yet today matters seem only to be worse. Less than a majority of the people, the polls say, approve either his general performance or his conduct of the war in Viet Nam. Few Democratic figures announce proudly they are wearing the LBJ brand.

The assaults upon the President are so vigorous and so constant that it is hard now to recall 1965 and the avalanche of his Great Society triumphs. His combat with the press—and that is what it is—relieved only by temporary truces called press conferences, which seem merely to feed a mutual estrangement. Reporters who necessarily accompany him to Texas feel as isolated as if they were in Saigon.

WHEN HARRY TRUMAN fell to low estate, sympathy stirred in many hearts. Lyndon Johnson gets almost none, perhaps partly because he does not look as if he needed it.

Like any president, he labors hard for his niche in history. There may be times nowadays when, under steady hammering, he imagines that history may prove his only durable friend.

With a national electorate strongly Democratic, it is conceivable Johnson might be re-elected in 1968 by millions who accept him not only without affection but with diminishing admiration as well.

There is a danger in the prospect that the President and the nation may be found tolerating one another.

For all his vaunted links to men of valued judgment beyond the White House gates, he lives today in a kind of splendid isolation.

A man acknowledged to have prodigious talents, great energies, an incalculable dedication to work, Johnson must be baffled to see these things dismissed almost as of no account.

IN 1966 HE PRESIDES over a nation which, abroad, is fighting its most puzzling war and which, at home, seethes with the unprecedented social ferment of the Negro revolution. He keeps his footing.

Man of action and accomplishment though he is, the President nevertheless searches in vain for the garments of the hero. Other names—Roosevelt, Eisenhower, Kennedy—ring in his ears. There are no great Johnson cohorts.

Even the abilities for which he is celebrated have, in the end, hurt him. In the beginning much was said of his appreciation of the uses of power. Now, power and Johnson are often spoken of as an unhappy coalition.

Many Americans, to judge from their recorded comment, miss in Lyndon Johnson the leaven of idealism which makes the stern uses of power understandable and endurable. Too frequently, they identify him only with its meaner applications.

ON RARE DAYS, the President has discovered and voiced the eloquence of the country's ideals. His June, 1965, address on Negro rights at Howard University was such a day. For a magic moment or two, the same incandescence was felt in his words to Negroes meeting in conference on those rights a year later. But the times are few.

If they were more common, less surely would be heard of the President's personal shortcomings. Talk of them would be burned away in the fires of inspiring leadership.

Americans, questioned often, make plain they want that fire of spirit, not just cold accomplishment.

President Johnson has years yet in which to find the fire's unfailing source. If he does not, dreams of history's hoped-for accolade may supply his only comfort.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Ah, those Saturday night parties. We didn't have baby sitters, as I recall. Most of the couples brought the children. They added to the bedlam. Some fell. A boy slapped a girl. There were sudden screams in various rooms, and when the little ones tired, they were arranged like cordwood on the bed and slept until their parents were ready to call it a night.

Cheap booze was important. So were potato salad and cold cuts. There must have been eight or 10 women in the kitchen, helping each other. It sounded like a henhouse at hatching time. They chattered and cackled at jokes about their men, and wore aprons and added a film of molasses to the brown baked beans.

The men were in the living room, lounging, not talking much, getting started with a drink. The host mixed the first round, the rest was free-wheeling. When a child cried, the father yelled from the living room to the kitchen, and some woman came out snarling: "Why can't you take care of him for once?"

Like a bass drum crescendo, the party started softly and gained power and thump as it progressed. The guests were still fairly sober when the big platters and bowls were placed on the dining room table with a stack of dishes and some cutlery. Later—ah, they made pretty pictures.

Dear Aunt Nan called everybody "lovey" because she couldn't remember any name, including her own. She was as old as the dead oak on the lawn, but she always said: "Let me have two and I'll go to bed." She had nine and she was perspiring through her shields. The corset and the shoes were killing her.

In the morning, she would have a head full of loose rocks and a tongue like a bathmat in a Japanese gymnasium. But nobody wanted to stop the old bag from trying one more on. It was untidy, it was difficult.

And Willie, Willie the flirt, the man with the golden smile when he was coming through the rye. Or vice versa. Drinking gave him such intense nervous problems that he spent all day Sunday, Monday and Tuesday tapering off on beer. By Friday, he felt normal and unfatigued, but it was started again on Saturday and the women regarded him as harmless.

Ben was a big fellow with black electrified hair. He wanted to be bartender. He cared not who made the nation's laws, so long as he could grab a bottle by the throat. He poured doubles and triples by the dozen, without ever telling the victims.

He told good stories and he always quit before his hair collapsed. He murmured: "Good night, all" and left with a full bottle under his coat. In the morning, he would phone and say: "The damn stuff never did anybody any good. I'm quitting."

Then there was Eggie, the comedian. He was a solemn as a professional pallbearer until after the second plate of beans and the fourth drink. Then he yearned to dance. If no one would dance with him, including his suffering wife, he would dance by himself dreamily, doing an old time box step as though he had one foot in a hole.

Jackie was the politician. He was tall and slender and he talked statecraft in confidential whispers. He knew who was

Questions Whether Big Name Statement Makes Headlines

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 5—Does news consist only of what is said on one side of a controversy by prominent personalities—as, for instance, by high officials in London and Paris who don't like the fact that American air forces bombed some oil depots in North Viet Nam? Wasn't it news also when Prime Minister of Australia, Harold Holt, who happened to be in Washington for an official visit to the President of the United States, told the National Press Club last Thursday that he stands 100 per cent behind the American government in the way it is fighting the war in Viet Nam?

Even though brief quotations were carried on some press-association wires, all reference to the speech of the Australian Prime Minister was omitted the next day from the news columns of two of the large newspapers in New York and Washington and from many others. The Prime Minister's address ought to be published even belatedly because it was certainly an important pronouncement and worthy of print in every respect. He said in part:

Suggests A Method

"I think it would assist a clearer understanding for us all if we could turn our eyes away for a week or two from the daily episodic reportings to consider the environment, the general situation, the total picture which relates to Viet Nam and its place in Asia generally, because from much of the criticism that I've been reading, the wood seems to have been lost sight of as people inspect the trees. And if we want to assess the value of our participation in South Viet Nam, then I believe those who criticize must broaden their horizons and see what has been achieved by resistance to Communism in Southeast Asia, and study in turn what this will mean to the Asia of tomorrow."

The military operations would then fall into place as marking the continuing challenge of Communism in Asia. The stakes are very large, and that is why three successive presidents of this great country . . . firmly decided, one succeeding the other, that the military power and economic strength of the mightiest nation in human history must be brought into the scale to preserve freedom and hope and progress in the countries of Asia.

"The only major military power on the mainland of Asia is Communist China. No country in Asia could feel itself secure from the threat of communist aggression but for the power and resolution of the United States of America. And so we might fairly ask the critics who don't like what is going on in South Viet Nam: Do they want a world in which a communist-dominated Asia forms a major part?"

"That is a fair question. They may feel that the issue can end in South Viet Nam. None of us do who live in that area of the world. And I speak as one who has been in the course of this year not only to South Viet Nam but through several of the countries of Asia. I come to you as one who opened on Monday morning (June 27) in Canberra (Australia) the conference of South-east Asia Treaty Organization powers. And on the preceding weekend, I was able to have talks there with Michael Stewart (British foreign secretary), Dean Rusk and the foreign ministers of all these SEATO countries attending that conference."

Threat Exists

"And they're under no doubt as to the fact that a continuing threat exists. They welcome what have been quite favorable developments in the course of the past 12 years, and there are very hopeful developments emerging in Asia. But without American strength in Asia, then we might as well hand it over to communism of the Chinese brand."

"We in Australia share the views of your leaders and, I would hope and believe, of millions of your fellow Americans that a critical battle is being fought in South Viet Nam for the future of mankind."

The Australian prime minister referred pointedly to the fact that although his country is far away from Europe, Australian troops were sent there in two World Wars and sustained nearly 500,000 casualties. He added that Australia promptly went to the side of the United States in Korea and that he sees South Viet Nam "in the same context—a crucial struggle for human liberty." Australian troops today are fighting in Viet Nam alongside American forces.

European premiers may adopt a more or less neutral attitude nowadays toward the Viet Nam war, but they forget this is exactly what their own peoples criticized the United States for doing prior to its entry in both World Wars.

So as Independence Day is celebrated in America, it is heartening to see the spokesman from a country of 11 million people in the far Pacific lining up solidly in support of the policy of the United States in its effort to win independence for the small, helpless nation in Viet Nam.

Tall Screen Tip

Want to enlarge a window without endangering privacy within the room? Build a tall but dainty screen four to six feet away from the house wall. Then mound a planting bed on both sides so the screen appears as a backdrop for shrubs and flowers rather than as a privacy screen. Use of a Japanese maple or a silk tree along with a screen gives excellent privacy for several large windows.

NEW YORK (AP) — The lady with the glittering earrings at the other end of the bar may refuse to talk to you because she's listening to the Mets-Dodgers game on her tiny concealed radio.

The man with the conservative tieclasp may be in constant touch with his office — just as James Bond was supposed to be.

The refrigerator at home may have a half dozen clearly defined temperature zones instead of just today's freezer compartment and ordinary food cooler.

Ready for Market
Already these circuits — no bigger than a period made by a typewriter — are scheduled to be put into a tiny electric clock radio, on the market by October, into phonographs and portable TV sets by Christmas, and into tape recorders next year.

By 1970 the microcircuits may do to transistor-type communication and entertainment products what the transistor has been doing to radio tubes. And mass production and sales are expected to bring their price down to around 50 cents, compared with the $475 which each one cost in 1961 when they were in their infancy.

In the intervening years

White Set for Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronaut Edward H. White says there is a possibility the first manned Apollo space flight might come this year.

White, the first American to walk in space, was awarded the Gen. Thomas D. White space trophy Friday in Washington, D.C.

The Air Force lieutenant colonel said the Apollo orbital mission had been scheduled for the first quarter of 1967.

Asked whether it might come this year, White replied: "We always try to get up ahead of schedule."

they've been confined largely to military, computer and other industrial uses. Now they're ready to tackle the consumer market. Sales of the microelectronic circuits this year will run around $130 million, but consumer usage could push this to $400 million a year by the end of the decade. By then, General Electric says, all of its consumer electronic products will use microcircuits. Its competitors are just as optimistic.

And a distinct possibility is the electronic jewelry, such as earrings and tieclasps to replace the transistor squawk box that some people now hold to their ears as they plod the sidewalks.

The Radio Corporation of America says that both its color and black and white TV sets will have these integrated circuits to replace a score of components, including transistors. Admiral and Sylvania Electric are pushing toward the same goal.

Robert C. Wilson, general manager of GE's Consumer Electronics Division, which is unveiling its solid-state microcircuit clock radio today, insists that "achievements possible with this new technology are limited only by our imagination."

To Replace Transistors

The radio measures 1 by 2 3/16 by 3 inches. The clock-radio combination is 5 1/2 by 3 1/2 by 4 inches. The radio circuit that sparks it is on a silicon chip about 1-32 of an inch square. Replaced will be ten transistors. Helping to make it so small and so much cheaper is the elimination of the wiring, connections and other components of a conventional circuit.

So what's ahead? Wilson says maybe a tiny computer for personal use, or a pocket size tape recorder, or a radio in a signet ring, or a TV set that can be held in the palm of the hand.

State Gets Art Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State is the recipient of a $50,000 federal grant to aid non-profit community drama and music groups.

The grant was announced Monday by the National Endowment for the Arts, which awarded a total of $2 million to the states and territories.

Seventy per cent of the drug-store prescriptions filled in 1963 were for products that were unknown before 1950.

GOP Chairman Urges Support For Fish Election

The Ulster County Republican Chairman, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, is urging every Republican in the county to get behind the candidacy of Hamilton Fish Jr., the Republican candidate for Congress, and to make their goal the election of a Republican Congressman from the 28th District.

Chairman Wilson offered his congratulations to Fish on his overwhelming victory last Tuesday, and said that the Republican candidate's excellent showing in the Primary Election clearly demonstrated Fish's appeal to the voters throughout the five-county district. The GOP leader said the final election returns revealed Fish won a decisive victory in his home county, Dutchess, taking that county by some 5,000 votes, and also piling up a majority of the votes in Greene, Schoharie, and Ulster.

In his statement today, the Ulster County Chairman called upon all of the Republican Committeemen in the county, as well as all other Republicans to forget any differences which might have developed during the Primary contest, and give their full cooperation to the man who was the choice of the Republican electorate.

Chairman Wilson said that he was pledging his complete support to Ham Fish in his effort to unseat the Democrat incumbent this November, and he was certain that a fully united Republican drive could accomplish that aim, and return the 28th Congressional District to the Republican column.

Chairman Wilson also offered his sincere congratulations to the three successful candidates for the important post of delegate to next year's Constitutional Convention, S. James Matthews of Kingston, Senator R. Watson Pomeroy of Dutchess County, and H. Clark Bell of Woodstock. The GOP Chairman said all three Republican candidates were well qualified to serve as delegates to the Convention, and he urged every Republican to join with him in giving their full support to the three primary victors in the general election Nov. 8.

Magazine Says Minh Warns of U. S. Terms

PARIS (AP) — The weekly magazine Enterprise today said that President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam had warned Red China and Russia that "if there is no new development, we will have to come to terms (with the United States) toward the middle of 1967."

The magazine, widely read by French business leaders, cited no authority for its information. Enterprise said that Ho Chi Minh had made a quick trip to Peking to present his views and that word had leaked on what was supposed to be a secret visit. It added that the trip was prior to the U.S. bombings of Hanoi and Haiphong.

"At the same time he was at Peking, Hanoi asked Moscow for a green light to explore the possibilities of a negotiated settlement," the magazine said. "Contrary to Peking, Moscow did not say so."

Fire in City

Local firemen were called early this afternoon for a fire in a vacant house in a wooded area by a pond off Linderman Avenue. They were still at the scene at Freeman press time. A recent fire in a vacant Glen Street house was said to be incendiary.

MEMORIES—These wedding gifts of 50 years ago were put on special display at the Eisenhower Library, Abilene, Kan., during the observance of the Dwight D. Eisenhower's golden wedding anniversary. There was also a china from Mrs. Eisenhower's hope chest and even a carefully preserved piece of wedding cake.

LANDING ON AIR—Engineers are working on a new landing system for airplanes which would eliminate wheels and the necessity for elaborate runways. Bell Aerosystems is developing an inflatable ring which has thousands of tiny ventholes on the underside. There is enough downward air pressure exerted to float the plane several inches above the ground.

Firemen Battle Blaze in Woods

Fire fighters from Ulster Hose No. 5 were called back this afternoon to the scene of a woods and brush fire that broke out about 24 hours earlier off Route 9W a short distance from the Town of Ulster.

Some dozen and a half firemen responded to the original alarm at 9:30 a. m. Monday in a wooded area behind Bob Steele's auto-repair buildings. They battled the blaze for almost nine hours, turning to service at 6:06 p. m.

The firemen were called back to the area at 11:52 this morning and were still at the scene of the fire at Freeman press time.

Fire Chief Hilary Schultz and Assistant Chief William Williams were in charge of fire fighters. Plattekill volunteers also were summoned to a grass fire this afternoon and were still at the scene at press time.

Marina Has Boy

RICHARDSON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Marina Oswald Porter, widow of the man accused by the Warren Commission of assassinating President John F. Kennedy, has given birth to a boy, according to the Dallas Morning News.

Officials at Richardson General Hospital and Mrs. Porter's mother-in-law would neither confirm nor deny the report. The newspaper said the 6-pound, 12-ounce boy was born Sunday and was named Mark Wayne Porter.

Mrs. Porter, 24, married Kenneth J. Porter, 28, a Dallas area electronics firm employee, on June 1, 1965, about 18 months after her first husband, Lee Harvey Oswald, was shot and killed by Dallas night club operator Jack Ruby. She and Oswald had two children, June, 5, and Rachel, 3.

To rehearse rolls, sprinkle them very lightly with cold water and put them in a brown paper bag. Close the bag tightly and heat in a moderate oven for about 10 minutes.

Expect Sensation

ROME (AP) — The secretary of Pope Paul VI's birth control commission predicted Monday night that the pontiff's decision on whether to alter the Roman Catholic approach to artificial contraception could be "sensational."

But the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henri de Riedmatten said the papal decision would also be prudent.

The commission's report, prepared after two years of study and debate, was turned over to the Pope last week for his study and final judgment. His decision is expected by the end of the summer.

Commission sources have indicated that a majority of its members favored liberalizing the Church rules against artificial methods of contraception, particularly relaxing the ban on use of birth control pills.

Ends Gift Holiday

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson ended her 15-day graduation-gift holiday in Spain today with a five-minute news conference where she expressed "my thanks to everyone for the wonderful time I have had here."

The elder daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson was flying to West Germany for another visit of about five days before returning to the United States.

During the morning Miss Johnson and her hostess in Spain, Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, visited a Picasso museum of the History of Barcelona, which contains many relics of the Roman age excavated from this region.

Jumps on Race Track

BOSTON (AP) — A man ran onto the track in front of the lead horses at the finish line during the feature race at Suffolk Downs Monday but escaped without injury even though he was brushed by two horses.

The crowd of 24,125 gasped as he lunged between the two leaders, Taunton and Happy Voter, and was bumped and spun around twice. He stayed on his feet as two other horses barely missed him.

Police identified the man as Theodore Lupino, 38, of Boston, and said he told them he was a former mental patient. He was sent to Boston State Hospital for observation.

2 Incidents Mar Queen's Visit to Northern Ireland

By GODFREY ANDERSON
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip basked in the affection of loyal Orangemen today on the final day of the royal visit to Northern Ireland. Not even the queen's limousine showed any scars from an anti-British incident Monday.

A large dent in the hood of the queen's Rolls-Royce was beaten out and painted over after the car had been hit by a cement block while the royal couple drove through the city. It weighed about 12 pounds and was hurled from the fourth floor of a building under reconstruction.

If the block had landed a few feet farther back it would have shattered the car's bubbletop. Police arrested a young man in the building and had to smuggle him out the back way to protect him from a howling crowd of angry Belfast citizens.

Two minutes earlier a woman had hurled a beer bottle at the car. It burst near the wheels but caused no damage. The woman was arrested.

The composition of the royal couple seemed jarred briefly by the cement-block attack, but the queen was all smiles again Monday night at a ceremony on Belfast's military parade ground to mark the 50th anniversary of the World War I Battle of the Somme.

She got an especially warm welcome from the crowd. Thousands joined in a loud rendition of "God Save the Queen."

Belfast police said the two attacks did not seem connected, nor was there any indication they were staged by any political organizations. Some members of Parliament had urged cancellation of the royal visit to Northern Ireland because it came after weeks of religious controversy between Protestants and Roman Catholics which had cost three lives.

Rides Cost More Today In Subways

NEW YORK (AP) — The price of a subway ride in New York was up a nickel today. The increase, from 15 to 20 cents, affected most of the city's bus lines as well, and was expected to hit all of them in a few days.

Although long anticipated, the timing of the fare boost, announced on the afternoon of the July 4 holiday, caught most New Yorkers by surprise.

It was the first fare increase in 13 years. The Transit Authority said it "confidently expects that the 20-cent fare will be maintained for at least a year."

Resnick Welcomes Milk Support, More Is Needed
Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick announced today that an estimated 56,000 persons in the 28th Congressional District of New York will be eligible for hospital benefits from the Medicare program which began July 1. Almost all persons over 65 will be covered by hospital insurance, which will pay most of the cost of hospital services and certain other post-hospital expenses.

Congressman Resnick reported that on a state-wide basis, 92 per cent of the persons in New York over 65 have enrolled for supplementary medical insurance will help top pay the cost of doctors services and other medical expenses.

Congressman Resnick today welcomed the recent 22 cents per hundred weight increase in the milk support price. However, the Congressman emphasized that "this increase will not provide enough income to keep our dairy farmers in business." He declared that direct production payments were needed to raise farm income and to prevent consumers from suffering under the undue burden of higher prices. The Congressman indicated his concern that dairy production has fallen to 1940 levels, while the population of the country has grown almost a third. Congressman Resnick said he feels direct production payments will counter these trends by keeping and attracting young people and investment capital into farming. The Congressman noted that the average age of dairy farmers is 58 years. "It is necessary," said Resnick, "to attract young people into farming by the prospect of an adequate income. Drastic action must be taken to prevent a further decline in dairy production which would lead to skyrocketing prices and a potential black market in milk, butter, cheese, and ice cream."

Injured in Fall

A Kingston man, injured in a fall down a flight of stairs Friday night at the West Shore Hotel, was reported in satisfactory condition today at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Albany. Charles Elmendorf, suffered a head injury in a fall about 6 p. m. Friday. He was taken by Fatum's ambulance to Kingston Hospital where he was transferred about 2 p. m. Saturday to the VA Hospital in Albany.

Tito Wields Ax

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito was reported today following up his purge of Yugoslavia's No. 2 Communist with wide-ranging dismissals in the courts, military, government and party.

Some Yugoslavs speculated that the next top official to fall might be Vojin Lukic, a member of the Communist party central committee and interior minister from 1963 to 1965.

The key factor in the dismissals appeared to be Tito's desire to end opposition to his liberal economic program.

John-John Now Enjoying Oahu, Burns on Mend

HONOLULU (AP) — Young John F. Kennedy Jr., is beginning to enjoy his Hawaii vacation again now that his burns are on the mend.

Dr. Eldon Sykes, a Honolulu plastic surgeon called in to examine the 5-year-old boy's injuries after he stumbled into a camp fire on a Hawaii beach last Thursday, said Tuesday the burned areas would heal completely without leaving scars.

Sykes performed what he called "minor surgery" on the son of the late president. This consisted primarily of breaking blisters, described by Sykes as "routine procedure of a minor nature."

The operation was performed at the home of millionaire industrialist Henry Kaiser, where Mrs. Kennedy, son John and daughter Caroline, 9, moved on their return from a week-long trip to Hawaii Island.

It was during their final day on that island, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu, that the accident occurred. The family had had a cookout at a private beach, and John was tugging on a sleeping bag when he fell backwards. He landed in the hot coals and was burned on the buttocks and right hand.

Mrs. Kennedy said the incident won't interfere with her vacation and she plans to extend her Hawaii visit indefinitely.

Launches Drive To Become Ga.'s 1st GOP Governor

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Urging a new Declaration of Independence for states rights built on self-reliance, Rep. Howard H. (Bo) Callaway has launched his campaign to become Georgia's first Republican governor in nearly 100 years.

"The battle for states rights will not be won until we in Georgia issue a new Declaration of acts and deeds and state self-reliance," Callaway told a cheering throng estimated by police at nearly 3,000 at his Fourth of July campaign kickoff rally.

Only one Republican has served as Georgia's governor in the last century and that was shortly after the Civil War during Reconstruction.

The present governor, Democrat Carl E. Sanders, is limited by law to his four-year term which ends in January.

SUNY Mushrooming, Hopes To Be Tops in State by 1970

By JOHN MACHACEK
The Albany Knickerbocker News

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State University of New York, described six years ago as a "limping and apologetic enterprise," believes it is on the threshold of greatness.

From a village on Long Island's north shore to busy Main Street in Buffalo, the university is emerging out of small clusters of ivy-clad buildings, barracks-like classroom annexes and acres of mud into more than $1 billion worth of sprawling campuses.

New academic departments are being created, curriculums are being diversified, teachers' salaries are rising, and distinguished teachers are being attracted into the faculty.

"This is going to be a university to be reckoned with," says Dr. Samuel B. Gould, university president.

Best by 1970

Dr. Oscar Lanford, president of the Fredonia arts and sciences college of the university, says:

"In the 70's, we'll be the best university in America."

One of the nation's largest educational systems, the university expects an enrollment of 120,000 full-time students next fall at its 58 campuses. The 1965-66 fulltime enrollment was 107,000.

The State University has grown substantially from the loose collection of 29 public and private institutions that came under its blue and gold seal on July 1, 1948.

Then there were 11 teacher colleges, 7 specialized schools, 6 agricultural and technical institutions, and 5 applied arts and sciences institutes that became community colleges in 1953. The Heald Commission, studying the state's higher education in 1960, called the federation a "limping and apologetic enterprise."

The report of the Heald Commission, which was headed by Dr. Henry Heald, former president of the Ford Foundation, led the Legislature to appropriate more money for the university system and open the way to planning.

Change Faces

Today, six years after the report and the development of the first university master plan, many of the first schools have changed their academic personalities.

The college at Albany is one of the four university centers where the emphasis will be on the last two undergraduate years, graduate education and research. The other three are at Stony Brook, Binghamton (former Harpur College) and Buffalo.

The other 10 colleges that were created to train teachers are now four-year colleges of arts and sciences—or "State University Colleges" at Brockport, Buffalo, Cortland, Fredonia, Geneseo, New Paltz, Oneonta, Oswego, Plattsburgh and Potsdam. The education majors still are the majority at these schools, but the liberal arts students are increasing in numbers.

The merger of the Graduate School of Public Affairs into the State University in Albany this fall will leave the university with seven specialized or professional colleges:

The College of Forestry on the Syracuse University campus; the Maritime College at Fort Schuyler in the Bronx; the College of Ceramics at Alfred University; and the College of Home Economics, Industrial and Labor Relations and Veterinary College at Cornell University.

Thrust-Back Collar TOILET TANK BALL

The efficient Water Master instantly stops the flow of water after each flushing. 75¢ at HARDWARE STORES versity. The last four are contract colleges.

The Upstate and Downstate Medical Centers, in Syracuse and Brooklyn, are expanding programs and medical services. The agricultural and technical institutes at Alfred, Cortland, Cobleskill, Delhi, Farmingdale and Morrisville now are called colleges, and the university is moving to introduce liberal arts into their specialized curriculums.

Total 28 Juniors

There now are 28 community colleges, with seven more proposed to be in operation by 1970.

Two more colleges of arts and sciences are being built in Westchester and Nassau counties and two more are planned—one in the Utica-Rome area and another at an undisclosed location near New York City.

Community colleges are expected to proliferate.

The 18-year-old university is not without growing pains.

At almost every college where construction is behind schedule, students are living three to a room and are attending classes in temporary buildings.

At the university center in Buffalo (the private University of Buffalo before 1962), "students stand in line for everything and can't even find a place for a quiet nervous breakdown," said Richard A. Sigelkow, dean of students.

Music students run to get a practice room at Fredonia. Faculty members are using dorms for offices at Binghamton and are being housed in converted storage rooms in Buffalo. The two-year-old fine arts complex already is too small for the growing Arts and Music department at New Paltz.

Crowded living conditions provoked Stony Brook students to demonstrate last spring. One picket sign said:

Too Crowded

"I'm here to be a student, not a sardine."

Architects have been accused of being unimaginative in designing the first buildings on some campuses.

The red brick dorms at Stony Brook, which some students call "neo penal," don't have that intended colonial charm and now must be hidden with ivy.

Despite strikes and other delays, campus building is moving along steadily. In varying stages of construction are 9 communication lecture halls, 10 science buildings, 4 libraries, 12 social sciences and humanities buildings, 7 fine arts centers, 6 infirmaries, 4 student unions, 12 service complex buildings, 23 dormitories and 13 dining halls.

As of June 1, $247.7 million in new construction had been completed, and another $454.8 worth of construction is on the drawing boards.

As the university grows, the administration is tending to regionalize, Gould said. Overall planning and budgeting for the university still will be in the hands of the Board of Trustees and his office.

The administration also keeps a watchful eye on the possibility of one center's duplicating another in specialized fields. Thus, all will have comprehensive programs in the sciences and humanities, but only Albany will have an atmospheric science research center and a School of Criminal Justice and only Stony Brook will have a Marine Biological Preserve.

NEXT: A trip around the colleges and a look into the future.

Governor's Parley To Slate Issues On Viet Nam, CR

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nation's governors come to grips today with the question of restoring machinery to deal with the explosive issues of the Viet Nam war and civil rights.

In the first formal session of their 58th annual conference, the governors take up proposed amendments which would reprocess they junked in 1963 in a vote the resolutions - making bitter fight over a Republican attempt to expose Democratic divisions over racial equality proposals.

Now the politically disturbing Viet Nam conflict hangs like a cloud over a conference where the everyday issues of federal-state relations, highway safety and mental health have been all but blotted out in preliminary discussions.

There is no doubt that if the Democrats push for it, they can get an endorsement from the conference for President Johnson's Viet Nam policies. They got one in last year's meeting with only two dissents — those of Republican Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

But a check by The Associated Press of a score of governors uncovered doubts and reservations, even among the President's supporters, about the latest bombings in North Viet Nam. Gov. Phillip H. Hoff, Vermont Democrat, for example, said that while he generally supports the President, "I have grave reservations on the recent bombings."

Heat Kills Gobblers

WILLIAMSTOWN, N.J. (AP) — William N. Bappert, a turkey farmer, called for help from the fire department when 5,000 of his birds died in the record-breaking heat wave.

Fire Chief Edward Derrickson sent trucks to spray water over Bappert's surviving 10,000 birds Monday and to create a mud wallow for them.

Deacon Chosen by Lot

ELMIRA, Ont. (AP) — Old Order Mennonites "made a deacon" here recently. The choice was made by the custom of choosing a man by lot. The method is based on Acts 1:26: "And they gave forth their lots; and the lot fell upon Matthias; and he was numbered with the 11 Apostles."

Omaha Quieter On Last Night Of Long Holiday

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — National Guardsmen were called into Omaha's predominantly Negro near North Side on the last night of the holiday weekend. They made some arrests, but in contrast to the two previous nights, no violence was reported.

Looting, vandalism and major disturbances had marked Saturday and Sunday nights in the area of 24th and Lake streets. Monday night's arrests occurred as the guardsmen cleared the area at the request of city officials.

Units on Alert

Earlier, members of four National Guard units had whittled away the night in their armories, prepared to move in to back up Omaha police. The police were working 12-hour shifts and riding four to a cruiser, in case there should be a recurrence of earlier violence.

Members of two additional Guard units on the outskirts of Omaha also were on alert, ready to move in if serious trouble developed.

Among those manning the emergency command post at a fire station at 22nd and Lake streets — only two blocks from the scene of a major outbreak in the early morning hours Sunday and the later call for the Guard this morning — were Mayor A. V. Sorensen and Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen, brother of former presidential aide Ted Sorensen, acting governor in the absence of Gov. Frank Morrison who is attending the National Governor's Conference in Los Angeles, Calif.

Most of the city's Negro population, estimated at about 30,000, live in the area.

The latest incident reportedly involved an estimated 250 to 300 persons, mostly Negro, and was connected with the shooting of an Omaha policeman. Officers at the scene called for help from the 36 Nebraska safety patrolmen who were standing by.

It was decided to call for the Guard to "sweep the area" and disperse persons who had no reason to be there.

Not Typical Unrest

Governor Morrison, who has been keeping in touch with the situation through aides, commented:

"First of all, this is not a typical racial disturbance. It isn't a conflict of Negro against white or white against Negro. It's a question of a group of young Negroes taking the law into their own hands and going on a spree of destruction."

When a reporter asked Mayor Sorensen earlier Monday if the situation was primarily a problem of racial relations, the mayor said flatly it was not.

Negro leaders issued appeals to the Negro population to end the disturbance and looting of stores.

BRIDGE

Trick Stolen at Small Risk

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the things learned from duplicate bridge is that any trick is worth stealing. In rubber bridge you don't try to steal an extra trick if the attempted theft jeopardizes the contract. Or do you?

Sometimes it even pays to go after that extra trick in a rubber bridge game if the risk is a small one. Thirty points is 30 points and if you can pick up enough points you can afford to throw away an occasional game. That is, if you are prepared to explain the losses to your partner.

South won the first trick with his king of spades over East's jack. It didn't take much time to count nine nice, easy top tricks and most rubber bridge players would run off four heart tricks and hope to get a tenth trick in the club suit. After all, someone would have to discard something.

South did not think much of that possibility. His opponents both were very good players and South's two-diamond response to his partner's two-club Stayman bid denied four cards in either major so East and West would know how he held four cards in at least one minor.

Finally, South hit on another way to steal a trick. He led his deuce of clubs toward dummy. This play wasn't going to do South any good if East held the jack of clubs and might even cost South his contract if West had opened the deuce of spades from a five-card suit. West played a low club instead of the jack. Dummy's ten won and South had his extra trick.

Projects Add Value

Thinking of remodeling your home? Projects that add dollar value are addition of a formal dining room and enlargement of the master bedroom to permit a king-size bed and triple dresser. The dining room should be 12 feet wide by 15 long to accommodate 10 to 12 people at the table, as well as a buffet and china closets. A good master bedroom size is 14 x 16 feet.

CHANNEL CHATTER

By BUCK HENRY
(For Cynthia Lowry)
EDITOR'S NOTE: — Buck Henry is one of the pair of comedy writers who dreamed up NBC's hit "Get Smart." But some television viewers will remember him as the bespectacled young man who played in some of the funniest satiric sketches of "That Was the Week That Was."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In the past year several people have expressed their enthusiasm for "Get Smart" by directing the following question to its writers: "Where do you get those wild ideas?"

There is, of course, one simple answer: "We steal them." Sometimes from each other but more often, from that endless compendium of unbelievable nonsense: the newspaper.

Most Inane

The faithful reader knows that Maxwell Smart, Secret Agent 86, can have no adventure more absurd, no experience more asinine, or no idea more inane than that which is chronicled in the daily Times-Journal-Sun Globe-News. It's not the newspapers' fault—it's just the way folks ARE.

In the pilot film of "Get Smart," we had a maniacal crew of KAOS bad guys attempt to blow up the Statue of Liberty. Several of the script's first critical readers thought that the plot was a little—well—far out.

But a few months after we wrote it a quartet of young Canadian dissidents—none of whom, to my knowledge, had read the script—were caught plotting to give the old lady a dynamite hot-foot. I don't know whether they were inspired by political tension or esthetic distaste. But I am grateful to them for proving that nothing we write is going to be any wackier than something that is actually being done.

Plot: Our man Smart infiltrated a KAOS cell and, after demolishing its dozen members, discovered that they were all, like himself, infiltrators from various government agencies. Item: A Communist cell, broken up some years ago, was found to contain a majority of FBI agents.

A Plot?

Plot: Smart investigated a band of American Indians who were reputed to have set up a deadly missile aimed at the heart of Washington. The missile turned out to be giant arrow. Item: GIs in Viet Nam recently overran a Viet Cong position and confiscated several giant arrows that were being used to knock down helicopters. Looking for a plot? Try some of the events that are happening within earshot—or is it eyeshot—of this column:

Would you believe that there is a bomb being developed by one of our more surrealist corporations that, when dropped on the enemy, doesn't destroy anything—it merely makes a mind-joggling boom?

Would you believe that a young man has found new happiness taking daily LSD trips with his pet pussycat?

Would you believe that there's a woman in Cardiff, Wales, who has sat through the film, "The Sound Of Music," over 500 times.

And they said that satire was dead.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, July 5, the 186th day of 1966. There are 179 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1835, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Wagner - Connery bill into what was to become known as the National Labor Relations Act. It was considered one of the most far-reaching attempts ever made to adjust standards of industrial employment conditions.

On this date
In 1810, American showman, P.T. Barnum, was born.

In 1830, the French occupied the city of Algiers.
In 1940, diplomatic relations were broken between Vichy France and Great Britain.

In 1944, American paratroops invaded Numfor Island in Dutch New Guinea.

Ten years ago—Reports from the Middle East for the second straight day caused concern that the area might be turned into a warground. The reports said that both Arabs and Israelis were massing troops along their borders.

Five years ago—The Soviet Union formally rejected Western proposals on the control organization for a nuclear test-ban treaty.

One year ago—Colonel Houari Boumedienne was formally installed as president of Algeria's 26-man Revolutionary Council. He had led the coup that ousted President Ahmed Ben Bella 15 days before.

State Announces 'Interim' Plan On Med-Aid Fees

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A new, "interim" statewide fee schedule now is in effect for physicians whose patients' bills are paid under the state's medical-aid plan.

Gov. Rockefeller said Monday the schedule was drawn to "approximate as closely as possible the usual, customary and prevailing fees" charged by doctors.

Rockefeller said the temporary rates, in effect since July 1, were based on the recommendations of his budget director T. Norman Hurd, welfare officials and representatives of the State Medical Society.

The society's House of Delegates, in an earlier meeting with state officials, opposed the fee levels, claiming they were set too low.

The scale uses a point system to assign the cost of treating welfare patients or those whose medical bills would be paid under terms of the controversial medical-aid plan.

For example, an appendectomy is valued at 40 points, or $160 at $4 a point. For non-surgical procedures, one point is valued at $5.

Hurd described the fee schedule as "an interim step, designed to provide a substantial increase over current fee schedules . . . and should provide a sound and constructive basis for further discussions."

Meanwhile, the governor also designated the state health commissioner, Hollis S. Ingraham, to recommend further changes in physicians' fees as well as changes in payments to dentists, optometrists and for laboratory and health services.

First volunteer fire department in the United States was formed in 1752 in Mount Holly, N. J.

Tells of Weight Control Eat All You Want If Swimming Is Serious Sport

By STEVEN MARCUS
HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Last winter, Russell Chaffee stepped on a scale and frowned when the needle came to rest at 232 pounds.

"Way too heavy," said Chaffee, who stands only 5-foot-8.

Dieting is very difficult for Chaffee, who admits, "I eat everything. That's my trouble." So he decided to take an easier way out — swimming the Susquehanna River, all 440 miles of it.

Consumes 600
"Swimming consumes about 600 calories an hour," he said in an interview here after having gone about two-thirds of the way. "You can eat all you want if you swim long enough."

Chaffee, 39, a high school mathematics teacher from Sayre, Pa., has been swimming long distances for about 10 years.

Another reason for deciding to swim the river, he says, is to advertise its recreational values.

He began his swim June 14 at the river's headwaters near Cooperstown, N.Y. At every town where he climbed out of the water for the night, he has been warmly greeted by officials and local citizens. He hopes to reach the river's end at avre de Grace, Md., July 11.

Down to 210
"I haven't weighed myself recently, but I would estimate I'm now about 210 or 208," he said. "And I intend to lose more. My natural weight is between 146 and 166."

He spends about 10 hours a day in the water swimming from 6 to 12 miles. All he consumes while swimming is water or soda.

He says he feels fine. He looks in fine condition, too. He is heavily muscled with a barrel chest and thick arms and shoulders.

His advice to those who want to lose weight is to try swimming. But he cautions: "If you swim only a short distance, it improves your appetite."

Rochester Area Man Killed in Viet Nam

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Marine 2nd Lt. Peter Domiano of Industry, near Rochester, joined the Marines shortly after graduation from the University of Virginia and "loved the corp," his family said.

Domiano, serving with the 2nd Battalion of the 3rd Marine Division, was killed in action in Viet Nam Friday, the Marine Corps said Monday.

A Marine officer told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Domiano, that their son suffered multiple fragment wounds when an enemy device exploded near the Da Nang River Basin.

Domiano was assigned to South Viet Nam in April. His father is director of parole at the State School at Industry, about 15 miles west of here.

'Quiet Vigil' Held As Protest to Viet

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — "I don't think we got much public notice," says a leader in a demonstration against the war in Viet Nam. "Most people were away for the holiday."

Dr. Christopher Fried of Union College made that comment today after participating in what he called a "quiet vigil" Monday.

About 45 persons held the vigil in the city's downtown section "to express concern over the bombings" of oil depots in the Hanoi - Haiphong area of North Viet Nam.

They also sent a telegram to President Johnson in which they argued for a more "sophisticated and modern" approach to the war and asserted they would "take their protest to the ballot box this November."

Fried, an associate professor of psychology, and Dr. Malcolm Willison, an assistant professor of sociology, also at Union, said they generally were against the war and specifically condemned the bombings.

Willison, a spokesman for the group, said the bombings isolate America from its traditional allies, risk provoking stiffer action by Communist China and jeopardize the lives of innocent civilians.

He and Fried, leaders of the demonstration, said the group did not represent any specific organization but was composed of area residents.

"We've got to continue to do something," Fried said.

Four Are Killed As Navy Plane Dives Into Earth

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — A big Navy transport plane, off course and out of control, dove nearly straight into the earth here Monday, killing all four men aboard.

The plane, a military version of the Lockheed Electra, was on a routine training flight from Floyd Bennett Field, N.Y., to Moffett Field, Calif., with a stop planned in Chicago.

The ship was headed in a southeasterly direction when it swooped low over farmland five miles northeast of this Lower Michigan city and smashed to bits.

State police said the wreckage was strewn over a four-mile area and included "nothing larger than a football."

Authorities at Moffett Field identified the dead as Lt. William E. Xiques, Staten Island, N.Y.; Lt. John Patrick Fitzmaurice III, Waterbury, Conn.; Aviation Machinists Mate 2.C. Charles J. Lurvey, Meriden, Conn.; and Aviation Machinists Mate 3.C. Larry W. Battson, Santa Clara, Calif.

George Hack, a licensed commercial pilot and former Navy flight engineer who owns an airport near the crash scene, said,

Former Kenmore Man Dies in Viet Nam

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 24-year-old Army first lieutenant who formerly lived in Kenmore, a Buffalo suburb, had died in action in Viet Nam.

David J. Hight of West Hartford, Conn., was killed Thursday, his parents in West Hartford were told. The death was reported here Monday.

Hight, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Keith Hight, graduated from Kenmore High School in 1960 and Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., in 1964. He entered the Army shortly after completing college.

Hight was assigned to the First Infantry Division in South Viet Nam last September.

"I heard him go over at about 2,000 feet. I heard a high-pitched scream of propellers," Hack said it sounded as if the ship were going at very high speed.

He took off in his own light plane and flew to the crash site. "I saw a 15-foot deep trench about 75 feet long," he said.

Hack said it appeared to him that the ship went nearly straight in, on its side, with the wings pointing up and down.

The airplane hit on the edge of a wood and started several small fires.

Four Navy officers from the Grosse Ile, Mich., Naval Air Station flew here to investigate.

List Teacher For Day Nursery

Ralph Hayes, chairman of the Reformed Church Community Day Nursery School, announces the employment of Mrs. James Lunn, of Kingston, as teacher for three and four-year old children on September 7, at the educational building of the Reformed Church of Saugerties, John Street.

This will be the first Day Nursery School in Saugerties, said Hayes, and it will be managed by a community committee on a non-sectarian basis in order to provide the finest possible nursery for small children. Standards will be established so that certification for the school may be obtained from the New York State Department of Education.

SAUGERTIES-2 Mrs. Lunn graduated from Oswego State Teachers College in 1959 with a B.S. degree in elementary education. Her teaching experience has been with young children, having taught kindergarten four years at Marcellus Central Schools of Syracuse and one year at South Colonie Central School of Albany. Mrs. Lunn has been a substitute teacher in Ohio, Kingston and Saugerties. While in Syracuse she worked during the summer months with the Recreation Commission in establishing and supervising a summer recreation program. She has major interests in art, handcraft and music and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education.

Establishing a Day Nursery for Saugerties has been the work of a committee composed of Mrs. Samuel Adams, Dr. Dexter Arnold, Mrs. James Chase, Miss May Evans, Mrs. Duane Fritz, the Rev. Orville Hine, Mrs. James Richards and Mrs. George A. Turner Jr. Several vacancies remain in enrollment for the fall session. Parents desiring the advantages of a Day Nursery for their children are invited to call the office of the Reformed Church for information and enrollment forms.

Brinnier Urging GOP Party Unity

Attorney William D. Brinnier III, of Saugerties, who served as Northern Ulster County coordinator for Alexander Aldrich during his recent Republican primary campaign, called today for party unity in the November election.

Brinnier said, "We are naturally disappointed that Alexander Aldrich did not emerge as the victor in last Tuesday's classic primary battle. As he conceded the election Tuesday evening when the tremendous Dutchess County vote for his opponent and the surprising strength displayed by Hamilton Fish in Ulster, Greene and Schoharie Counties became apparent, he called upon his staff and his supporters to back the designated Republican candidate in order to insure victory in November.

"Let us here in Ulster County who have supported Alexander Aldrich accede to his request and lend our support to Hamilton Fish, just as we would have expected Fish's forces to do had our candidate been successful," Brinnier concluded.

He also extended his personal thanks to those in Ulster County who worked long and hard for Aldrich's campaign, and said the goal now should be overwhelming Republican victory in November.

Serves in Viet Nam

Marine Lance Corporal Raymond O. Gallagher Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Gallagher Sr. of Route 1, High Falls, is serving with the 12th Marine Regiment, 3rd Marine Division in the Republic of Viet Nam, about five miles west of Da Nang.

The 12th Marine Regiment packs the artillery punch for the division with its "big guns" ranging from the 105mm howitzer to the eight-inch self-propelled howitzer.

As a supporting unit, the 12th Marines find themselves constantly called upon to bring artillery fire upon the Viet Cong forces in the Da Nang area.

Kennedy Shoots Rapids, Off for Canadian Trip

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and a group of adventurous friends and relatives who ran the rapids-filled "River of No Return" in boats, air mattresses and a kayak were back in civilization today.

But they weren't back to rest. Kennedy — who shot the last 40 miles through some of the river's rapids — planned to fly out with his family today for more vacation in Canada.

The senator abandoned the rubber boats for the kayak — a long thin covered boat with a hole in the middle for the rider — just past the halfway point in the 100-mile trip down the Salmon River's middle fork.

He said he had ridden a kayak only once before, but he maneuvered over the steep, roaring falls of the rapids between sharp rocks and shot up off "rollback" waves at the bottom like a veteran.

Willie Schaeffler, Denver University ski coach, trying the same things in a kayak made unstable by a broken part, overturned in the rapids four times.

James Whittaker, a mountain climber and a close outdoor friend of the Kennedys, overturned his kayak once.

The senator earlier joined a number of the 15 Kennedy children, cousins and friends riding leisurely down the river on air mattresses.

The rest of the party — including astronaut John Glenn and his wife, singer Andy Williams' wife and Lemoyne Williams of New York — swept over the rapids in the eight yellow and black rubber boats.

Passengers often walk around the worst rapids, but every member of the Kennedy party chose to shoot them all.

The trip ended in the mile-deep canyon junction of the middle fork and main Salmon River near the Montana border and Continental Divide late Monday afternoon. Chartered buses carried the river-runners out of the wilderness back to Sun Valley where they capped the trip with an informal party.

They had spent the previous three nights in tents on the open banks of the river — fishing, swimming and water fighting.

$17,000 Stolen Upstate

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — State Police sought leads today in the theft of $17,000 in cash and checks from the Thousand Islands Club on Wellesley Island in the St. Lawrence River.

The theft was reported Monday when a groundskeeper at the resort found a battered safe that had contained the money at the rear of a building near the club's golfcourse.

A spokesman for the hotel said at least $12,000 of the currency was in cash.

Troopers said they had not determined how the burglars entered the building.

WHO IS ON RELIEF?

There are some vague answers when the question of just who gets relief is posed to the average American citizen. As an example of the facts, the figures for New York City during June 1965 are broken down in the above chart. About 7 per cent of the population is reached by public assistance of one kind or another. There are 546,242 persons represented above. Biggest segment, always, is aid for dependent children.

INFLATION PSYCHOLOGY

Never in the economic history of the United States has the disparity of stock and bond prices been greater than it is now. An inflation psychology infects America: millions of investors want values that will protect their dollars somewhat against buying-power deterioration.

Today, $10,000 will buy $12,000 of dollar obligations of Atchison, Topeka Railroad, New York Central, J. I. Case, United States Steel, Consolidated Edison and Northern Pacific, which will pay $535 a year in interest. Thus, conservative investors who believe that stock prices are too high can buy bonds at interesting discounts and receive over five per cent in income.

Northern Pacific with its vast oil properties, for instance, is selling for about $50 a share of common. Dividends must be earned and declared. Yet, the long-term four per cent bonds can be bought for 81 cents on the dollar with a yield currently of almost five per cent.

Likewise, the New York Central common is selling at about $75 a share while the medium-grade, long-term five per cent bonds are selling for 84 cents on the dollar with a current yield of around six per cent.

It is my opinion that inflation psychology is playing too great a role in the security markets.

The long-term four per cent bonds of that industrial giant—the world's leading steel enterprise—United States Steel Corporation—can be had at about 88 cents on the dollar.

An the fair-grade, 5½ per cent obligation of J. I. Case, with a long-term maturity, can be bought for 91 cents on the dollar with a yield of six per cent currently. Case common stock, paying nothing, is selling for $25 a share.

In many respects, economic America is back in the days of 1927-1929 when everybody wanted stocks and nobody wanted bonds. Of course, basic conditions today are vastly different from what they were nearly 40 years ago. Our great country is flooded with inflationary dollars, a situation brought about principally by the monetization of the huge federal debt of $320,000,000,000.

There is a great dearth of competent, professionally-minded investment advisers in America. Three hundred thousand doctors of medicine serve 195,000,000 people at least 25,000 investment counsellors here. There could be a logical relationship between the administration of health and of wealth.

Under such an arrangement, at least 20,000 investment counsellors would be needed to supervise the operations of the 50,000,000 stockholders and dollar bank depositors adequately.

What must a competent investment adviser know? He should be a traveling encyclopedia of information about a score of leading industries. He should be an authority in the field of corporation finance. He should know how to interpret a balance sheet and an operation statement.

And, above all, he must have a professional attitude about money management with his clients' interest always first and foremost in his calculations and decisions.

Such counselors would attract the attention of thousands of bewildered investors in a very short time.

Movie Is Listed For Park Show, Starts Tonight

The regular weekly movie schedule of the Recreation Department in the city parks will feature Audie Murphy in Apache Rifles. The movie is an excellent western about the territory of Arizona in the 1770s when Vittorio, war chief of the Mesquero Apaches, left the reservation and made war on the whites because of their desecration of the Indian lands.

He is opposed by Indian hating Capt. Stanton, Audie Murphy, who brings the Apaches back to the reservation and sides with the Indians against a pawn of the Indian Ring, a Cavalry Colonel who being Stanton's superior officer places him under arrest on the direction of the greedy white miners.

The movie will start at dusk tonight at Forsyth. Wednesday at Hasbrouck and Thursday at Colonial Gardens. It is about an hour and a half in duration and will be shown by the projection crew of the Recreation Department.

Shandaken Offers Summer Program in Three Places

Robert W. Maroney, secretary of the Youth Recreation Commission of Town of Shandaken, has announced that the Shandaken summer recreation program, sponsored by the Town of Shandaken, will operate from July 5 through August 19 according to the following schedule:

Monday, 9 a. m.-10 a. m., Phoenicia; Tuesday, 9 a. m.-12 noon, Shandaken; Tuesday, 6:30 p. m.-8 p. m., Phoenicia; Wednesday, 8:50 a. m.-12:10 p. m., Swim-O-Links, Woodstock; Wednesday, 1 p. m.-4 p. m., Phoenicia; Thursday, 9 a. m.-12 noon, Shandaken; Thursday, 6:30 p. m.-8 p. m., Phoenicia; Friday, 9 a. m.-12 noon, Phoenicia.

The Youth Recreation Commission has appointed Chet Gordon, of Phoenicia, a recent graduate of Syracuse University, to direct the program. Kip Dugan of Woodland Valley, a senior at Rochester Institute of Technology; and June graduate of Ontario Central Schools, Mark Hoyt, of Mt. Tremper, who has a scholarship in physical education at Springfield College, will serve as assistants to Gordon.

Mrs. Thomas Goldstone, a Red Cross and YMCA certified swimming instructor, will teach swimming to non-swimmers during the Wednesday morning swim at Swim-O-Links Pool in Woodstock. The bus will pick up children wishing to attend the aquatic program at 8:50 a. m. at the Shandaken fire hall; at 9 a. m. at the parish hall in Phoenicia, and at 9:10 a. m. at Guffafson's Store in Mt. Tremper.

Program recreational activities will include baseball, basketball, softball, ping pong, badminton, croquet, arts and crafts, horse shoes, reading, games and similar activities for all age groups admitted to the program.

Children who have attended kindergarten through high school age students are eligible for participation in the program.

On days of inclement weather, the program will be cancelled.

The Recreation Commission, which is appointed by the Town Board of Shandaken, consists of the following members: Neil Grant, president; Robert W. Maroney, secretary; Lindsay Hoyt, John Rossitz, LeRoy Winchell, Renwick Dibble and Robert Grennie.

Kripplebush Vols Schedule Bazaar

The Kripplebush-Lyonsville Fire Company will hold a bazaar on the firehouse grounds from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. Saturday.

There will be 10 booths of entertainment plus food and cake sale, music and refreshments. Other highlights are planned. Frederick W. Meyer is chairman.

Charge Boy, 15, In Knife Death, Grudge Blamed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy faces a charge of second-degree murder in the stabbing of a 12-year-old youth during a fight on the front porch of a home here.

Police accused Ronald D. Peeler of Buffalo of fatally stabbing Lawrence Johnson, the son of George H. Johnson of Buffalo, Saturday night.

Police blamed the knifing on a grudge built up earlier by the two youths during a fight in a neighborhood playground. The reason for the fight was not known.

Peeler appeared Sunday before Judge Ann T. Mikoll of City Court, who ordered him confined to the Erie County Detention Home pending arraignment in the county Family Court. The judge said she ordered him held without bail because of the seriousness of the charge.

The Johnson home is at 213 Chester St. Peeler lives at 415 Johnson St. The stabbing occurred at 146 Chester St.

Windsor, Ontario, is Canada's most southerly city.

Mother Keeps Up Holiday Births

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. David Hersh of nearby Tonawanda, born on Labor Day "21-plus years ago," has three children, all also born on holidays.

The third, a girl, was born Monday, Independence Day, in Children's Hospital here. She has two sons, Edward, 13, born on Columbus Day, and Alfred, 11, who arrived on Armistice Day.

Both appeared to have waited to be born on a national holiday, she said, as Edward was a week overdue and Alfred three weeks behind schedule.

The new daughter arrived on the previous day. She weighed in at 7 pounds and 13 ounces. "It's hysterical," said Mrs. Hersh.

The Hersh family lives at 15 Dixon Drive.

Gets Involved

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 35-year-old man, who told police he tried to stop a fight between a man and his wife, stands charged with second-degree murder in one of two fatal stabbings that occurred here Sunday. In the second knifing, police were searching for the assailant.

Police accused David Greider of Rochester with fatally stabbing Arthur Feiler, 55, of the same Rochester address, in the abdomen with a bread knife.

Greider told police he tried to stop a fight between Feiler and his wife in a rooming house where they live. Details of the fight were not given.

Police identified the victim in the second knifing as James T. Smith. He was stabbed, they said, during a quarrel with another man in the Solds Grill. The reason for the disagreement was not known.

Smith lived at 505 Tremont St. The grill is at 482 Jefferson Ave. The Greider and the Feiler address is 56 Lenox Ave.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The Hudson has been discovered again, so it seems, as it keeps getting in the news. The only way we can really enjoy the Hudson view, would be to go on the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, stop in the middle and see the majestic Hudson. We do not have the Dayliners going from New York to Albany and stopping at Kingston Point Park, as we had years ago. I am just wondering who "they are expecting" to show the Hudson to. You can see some of it from Hasbrouck Park in Kingston. If you go to the highest level, River Road in Port Ewen, another segment of the Hudson can be seen, but seeing the Hudson from early morning until sunset, was our pleasure when we took an excursion to New York City on the big Dayliners.

The Lamp, summer 1966 issue, published by Standard Oil of Rockefeller Plaza, New York has a double page spread, showing the Hudson as painted sometime in the last century by S. A. Hudson. Looking south, it shows the distant Tappan Zee, a wide part of the Hudson. One can see the sailing vessels and a sidewheeler is seen in the distance. The article is by Carl Carmer, the famous Hudson River historian. He writes that Henry Hudson called it the Great River. Now the politicians are putting their best foot forward by telling about preserving the landmarks along the Hudson and also to creating replicas of those that no longer exist in their original state.

Washington, Irving, a famous many-angled residence, Sunnyside, was preserved due to the interest of the Rockefeller family. It seems as Washington Irving traveled and saw architectural structures in Holland, Scotland, China and Spain, he incorporated these ideas into his "snuggery" making it a charming place for himself and his relatives. Those were the days of rugged individualists, not hampered by dictators telling one how and where to live.

Carl Carmer writes that the Hudson as a commercial river is now used by ocean-going tanker and tug-propelled barges, carrying fuel oil, gasoline, and chemical raw materials coming from refineries in New Jersey, Texas, Louisiana and the Caribbean to Albany. He further writes that the "old and unpretentious city of Dutch origins, now welcomes to its docks, freighters of 32 foot draft, which includes the majority of ocean-going commercial craft." The Army engineers feel that the Hudson we seldom see is important enough up to Albany, that our capital city is now a 12-month port. No more does the winter ice close it up to traffic on the river, whenever necessary the Coast Guard cutters keep the lanes clear for shipping during the winter.

It is said that the "floating palaces" of the Hudson River Day Line still go as far as Bear Mountain Park from New York. Now money talks, and runs the freight boats up and down the Hudson, so that if you want to see the Hudson during a full moon, or early in the morning, or a rainbow on the Hudson, you simply have to work on the boats which ply the river for commercial shipping. Another article in this Lamp magazine, called Panorama, tells about some 21.5 million tons of freight moving annually. More than 50 million barrels of refinery products a year are shipped in and out of the port of Albany, which can be reached by ocean-going vessels drawing up to thirty-two feet of water. From Albany, products are barged through the Erie and Oswego canals, Lake Ontario, and up the St. Lawrence to Ogdensburg, New York, a distance of some 300 miles. It seems to me the Hudson pays off well, and New York State certainly has plenty of business, so why is it so broke? The Hudson is an ever-lasting water highway, that needs no repair, what can be cheaper than that.

Believed Existence Unfair

JFK Saw Complete Equality As Hard to Find in Any Life

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — "There is always inequity in life," President John F. Kennedy said in March 1962.

"Some men are killed in a war and some men are wounded," he added, "and some men never leave the country, and some are stationed in the Antarctic and some are stationed in San Francisco."

Termed Life Unfair
"It's very hard in military or in personal life to assure complete equality. Life is unfair."

With this off-the-cuff statement on the Berlin crisis callup of reserves, the President was commenting at a news conference on the essentially unequal way America meets its military needs: calling some men to service and allowing others to enjoy the freedom of civilian life.

The statement may have satisfied the sophisticated and the pragmatic, but the moral question remained unanswered. It has swelled, with a widening war in Viet Nam and mounting casualties, to a national debate.

This past weekend, President Johnson named a 20-man civilian panel to take a broad look at the draft, focusing on its fairness and other factors.

Will Continue
In the meantime, the squawks are likely to continue.

While a football knee Joe Namath from service, the young man in the couldn't throw a football 15 yards is sent packing to a camp. Cassius Clay flunks his mental test while a college graduate pulling targets on a rifle range wonders how bright you have to be to even in the modern Army.

And, perhaps most irksome, the men in the jungles of Viet Nam — and their families — know Joe College is just about home free if he can maintain passably fair grades, get married and raise a family before his deferred number comes up at the local draft board.

First incumbent U.S. president to travel to a foreign country was Theodore Roosevelt, who visited Panama in 1906.

Asparagus is said to be native to the Mediterranean region and to Asia Minor.

Scholefield-Meyer Nuptials Are Announced

MRS. RONALD J. MEYER (Morse photo)

Miss Jo-Anne E. Scholefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Scholefield, 43 Virginia Avenue, Fishkill, N. Y., wed Ronald John Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Meyer, 57 South Manor Avenue, this city.

The ceremony took place in the First Reformed Church of Fishkill, N. Y., on Saturday, June 25 at 7 p. m. with a reception in the church chapel. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Arthur W. Landon. It was a double ring wedding ceremony. Traditional music was provided by Mrs. Marian Brown, organist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chapel length gown of white brocade styled along empire lines. Her headpiece was a halo of matching brocade with a two-tiered illusion veil. She carried miniature white carnations accented with a white rose corsage.

Mrs. Janet May Jaycox of Beacon, N. Y., served as the honor attendant for her sister. She wore a gold satin semi-formal gown in princess style, a matching pillbox and a short face veil. She carried a hand crescent of white daisies and gold streamers.

Frederick Folwell of Kingston was best man for his cousin. Ushers were James Folwell of Kingston, cousin of the bridegroom, and James Scholefield, brother of the bride.

The bride was graduated from Roy C. Ketcham High School, Wappingers Falls, and attended Dutchess County Community College. She was a member of Horizon's Unlimited and the Ski Club and is now an active member of the First Reformed Church of Fishkill.

The bridegroom was graduated from Kingston High School and U. S. Army Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Okla., as well as Radio Engineering Institute, Sarasota, Fla. He is a member of the A. H. Wicks Fire Engine Company, Kingston, and is employed as an engineer by KCND-TV, Channel 12, Pembina, N. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer will reside in Pembina, N. D. A replica of the Statue of Liberty, one-fifth the size of the original, stands in Birmingham, Ala.

Julia Helen Paull, Richard P. Pratt Exchange Vows

Miss Julia Helen Paull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Paull of Port Ewen, exchanged marriage vows with Richard P. Pratt of Endwell, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pratt of Leesburg, Fla., on June 11, 1966 at 2 p. m. wedding ceremony in Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Vestal, N. Y. Officiating was the Rev. Lawrence Giblin.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a matching ensemble of white ottoman silk and a semi-bouffant chapel length veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Les Craig of Huntington, L. I., cousin of the bride, served as honor attendant. Paul Flag of Endicott, N. Y. was best man. Alexander Paull of Port Ewen, brother of the bride, and Thomas Pratt of Watertown, brother of the bridegroom, served as ushers. A reception for members of the immediate families was given at Endwell House, Endwell, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt left afterwards for Miami Beach, Fla.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School in 1962 and received her BS from State University College at Cortland. She is a member of Nu Sigma Chi Sorority and will be employed by the Vestal Central School System in the fall.

Mr. Pratt was graduated from Clarkson College with a BS in electrical engineering. He served as a first lieutenant in the U. S. Army and is now employed by IBM in Owego, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will be at home on Evergreen Street, Vestal, N. Y. when they return from their wedding trip south.

Earning Diplomas—A Family Affair Here

MRS. NANCY WELLS

Commencement provided ample activity last month for the Wells family at 142 Clinton Avenue. Patrolman Raymond B. Wells, who has been on the Kingston Police Force for the past 19 years sums it all up as "... marvelous achievements."

Mrs. Wells received her BA Degree from State University College at New Paltz on June 13; her daughter by a previous marriage, Catherine Drummond, was graduated from Kingston High School on June 26; and her son, Peter Wells, was graduated from Kingston High School also on June 26.

The situation is unique because Mrs. Wells returned to undergraduate college studies after a long absence and is now enrolled in the Graduate School at New Paltz. Her major is mathematics. She began her graduate studies on June 27th.

Area residents may remember Mrs. Wells when she appeared on a local UHF television station more than 12 years ago. The transmitting station and studio were located in Port Ewen and Mrs. Wells conducted a cooking program for youngsters. Co-featured with her was her daughter

PETER WELLS

Miss Catherine Drummond

Kathy. Since that time, Mrs. Wells has compiled a long list of achievements but the one of which she is most proud is her college degree.

"I never thought I would do it," she told the Freeman Society Editor, "but now that I have mastered the art of study, I want to continue right through graduate school."

College is in order for Cathy and her brother Peter. As an undergraduate Cathy was a member of the National Honor Society, French Honor Society, and received New York State Regents Scholarship, Music Society Award, Coach House Players Scholarship and the Lions Club Scholarship. She will attend State University College at Potsdam in September.

Peter Wells, who was recipient of the Kiwanis Scholarship, will attend Ulster County Community College in September.

Mary Louise Rota, John J. McGinnis Take Marriage Vows

Miss Mary Louise Rota, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Rota of 261 East Chester Street, Kingston, exchanged marriage vows with John Joseph McGinnis, son of Mrs. Francis McGinnis of Minturn Street, Port Ewen, on June 18, 1966. City Judge Herbert Richter officiated. Robert Rota provided traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace bodice and nylon skirt with circlet neckline. The bride's veil of bouffant silk was triple tiered and held by a crown of cut crystals. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and carnations.

Mrs. Nancy Van Loan of 154 Hasbrouck Avenue, Port Ewen, was matron of honor in a maize silk styled gown with matching flowered headpiece. She carried maize carnations.

John Van Loan of Port Ewen was best man. A reception for 100 guests was given at Tommy's Restaurant, Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. John J. McGinnis left on a wedding trip to New York City.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School. Both M. and Mrs. McGinnis are employed at Rotron in Woodstock. They will reside in Kingston.

Prospective Bride Of Harvey Paul Shaw

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lurie of 252 Hansen Avenue, Albany, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter Rhoda Gail, to Harvey Paul Shaw, 40 North Main Street, Castleton, N. Y.

The prospective bride is a graduate of Kingston High School. Mr. Shaw, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Pluznick of 71 East Grand Avenue, Old Orchard Beach, Maine, was graduated from the University of Maine and is a research chemist at Behr-Manning in Watervliet, N. Y.

The wedding is being planned for October 30, 1966. Ted Williams drove in 145 runs in his first season in the major leagues (1939).

Area Residents Awarded Degrees At Rochester Univ.

Area residents received degrees at the 116th annual commencement of the University of Rochester on Sunday, June 5.

They are: Sue L. Gurland, 7 Playhouse Lane, Woodstock, who received her BA with distinction in French Literature; and Peter J. Dolce, Sunkist Lane, Ashokan, N. Y., who received a BA in History.

Former Resident Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Schneider of 3917 Battlefield Drive, Huntsville, Ala., former residents of Shokan, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter Linda to Gregory Arndt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Arndt of Huntsville.

The bride-elect, who attended Ontario Central School, was graduated from Lee High School. Mr. Arndt is a senior at Lee High School and is employed in Huntsville.

Wedding plans will be announced. Miss Schneider is the granddaughter of Mrs. W. Ashcroft of Shokan.

New Play in Woodstock Opening Tonight; Folk Concerts Scheduled Through August

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" makes a return visit to the Woodstock Playhouse. It opens tonight with Nick and Honey portrayed by William B. Ade and Judith Doty, and Martha and George portrayed by Antoinette Kray and Ed Penn.

Nick and Honey are a young couple and new to the faculty of the small college where George is an associate professor of history and Martha is the daughter of the college president. With alcohol permeating the atmosphere of the entire evening, the dialogue is biting, vicious and at times hilarious.

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" has been called shocking, provocative, and shattering. Other attractions scheduled at the Woodstock Playhouse by executive director Edgar Rosenblum include several folk concerts, Billy Faler, one of the nation's top banjo players and folk artists will appear Monday, July 11 at 8:40 p. m. Bill Faler was featured in the Broadway hit "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and was also in the off-Broadway success "In White America." He has performed in all the leading folk clubs and festivals across the country and has recorded extensively for leading companies.

The concert will be at 8:40 p. m. and reservations may be made at the box office.

PUTTING PRIORITY QUESTIONED; POINTS OUT P.G.A. RULING

A reader who requests that her name be withheld writes:

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just read your recent "golf quiz" and apparently you are not aware of the new P.G.A. rule regarding putting out. I would suggest you contact any local or state golf professional who will give you the new ruling.

Dear Golfer: Thank you. You are absolutely right. The rules have been changed and so that my readers will not be confused about the current putting regulations, I will quote from the P.G.A. rules:

"... Each player plays continuously until he holes out. However, fellow competitor may ask him to lift to avoid standing on line of fellow-competitor's putt."

The first person to put is the one whose ball lies farthest from the hole.

Honor Among Thieves, Please

Dear Mrs. Post: My pet peeve is the purse-snatcher who pinches pocketbooks and takes out precious pictures and identification cards, such as social security and blood-type cards. If they want the money, let them put the wallet in a mail box and I am sure we would pay the postage to get them back. — Mrs. Knott.

Sop or Mop Coffee Slop?

Dear Mrs. Post: What do you do when your coffee slops over the edge of the cup and spills into saucer? Do you sop it up with a napkin, pour it into an empty glass or dish, or pour it back into the cup? Janet.

Dear Janet: If you're in someone's home or a restaurant with service, ask for another saucer. If that's impossible, pour the coffee back into the cup. Wipe the bottom of the cup with a paper napkin to dry it.

Does a gentleman precede a lady when getting off a bus? This question and many others on everyday etiquette are answered in the booklet, "Manners in Public." To get a copy, send ten cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this paper.

Nursery School Ceremonies

The Kingston Nursery School held its annual graduation exercises, June 22 at the Temple Emanuel on Albany Avenue. F. John Ambrose Jr. was the flag bearer for the Pledge of Allegiance. Greetings were extended by Robert A. Kurland, executive director of the Jewish Community Center. The introduction, a song entitled Hello Parents, was sung by the students. Another song on the program, Have You Ever Been a Fishing? was sung by David Kantor, Suzanne Semiloff, David Shaw and Cynthia Spiegel. The Three Bears were portrayed by F. John Ambrose Jr., Papa Bear; Nora Jane Fitzgerald, Mama Bear; Deanna Moon, Baby Bear and Amy Schwenk, Goldilocks.

Another song, I've Got Something in My Pocket, was presented by Deborah Cohen, Suzanne Nelson, Lillian Netburn and Scott Ratner.

The Three Billy Goats was dramatized by Baby Billy Goat, Irene Ronder; Middle Size Billy Goat, Steven Gally; Big Size Billy Goat, Alexander Zamm and Tral, Stephen Levinson.

John Ambrose, Michell Katz, Lawrence Friedman and David Shultis sang Tommy.

The last skit was called Little Red Riding Hood. Taking part in this were Little Red Riding Hood, Ellen Horowitz; Mother, Wendy Kestlin; Grandmother, Cynthia Spiegel; Wolf, Marc Yalun and Woodcutter, Duane Clinton. The program concluded with School Days.

The climax of the evening was the presentation of caps by Miss Patricia McGarry, head teacher, and presentation of diplomas by Sam Berger, retiring president of the Jewish Community Center.

The Class of 1966 graduates included F. John Ambrose Jr., Deborah Cohen, Nora Jane Fitzgerald, Steven Gally, Ellen Horowitz, David Kantor, Wendy Kestlin, Stephen Levinson, Lillian Netburn, Amy Schwenk, Suzanne Semiloff, David Shaw, David Shultis and Cynthia Spiegel.

Dear Abby . . .

'Indifference' May Be Misunderstood

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for 30 years, and I have never been the least bit jealous, but lately have been "burned" about the attitude of my husband toward his secretary. On Mother's day he invited her to share the day with us, and it was quite plain that SHE was the guest of honor.

She was seated carefully at the table and helped down the stairs, while I got along the best I could. On Father's day she gave him an antique jar which he put in the den. He said it would make a nice conversation piece. Well, it certainly has! What do I do, after I accidentally (?) break the jar?

ANOTHER ANTIQUE

DEAR ANTIQUE: Married thirty years and this your first attack of jealousy. Don't break the jar—just join the old man with the news. (He'll be flattered to pieces.)

DEAR ABBY: My father had an operation and had part of his stomach removed, so he has to eat several times a day, which is okay with the rest of us. But it seems he is always eating something crunchy like carrots, celery, or potato chips, and he sounds like he has a hollow head.

You can hear him all over the house. When I mention it to him he gets angry and says he is sorry but he can't help it. Mother says I am making too much of it, but it sure does get on my nerves. What can I do about it?

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD

DEAR ELEVEN: If your father says he can't help it, he can't help it. My advice to "eleven-year-old" learn young to tolerate that which can't be helped. (And I don't recommend bringing it up again or you're apt to learn that neither your father's head nor his hand is hollow.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which has confronted me every place I have worked. I am a single, rather attractive girl, who always ends up being asked out by a young man from the office. The young man in question is very nice, but I just do not care for his type, and do not wish to go out with him again.

I thought if I went out with him just once and treated him indifferently, he would catch on and give up, but it hasn't worked that way. I had to quit two jobs for that reason, and now it looks like I'll have to quit this one, too. It is so hard to say tactfully, "Please, don't bother me." Any suggestions?

HELP WANTED

DEAR HELP: Silly girl. Your first mistake was going out with a young man in whom you had no interest. He probably mistook your "indifference" for the "hard-to-get" technique, which makes you all the more attractive to him. If you don't want a friendly dog on your lap, don't scratch his neck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "UNHAPPY" IN SARATOGA: You can't MAKE anyone like you, but you can make yourself more likable.

Given Early Promotion

JOHN O. NILSEN

Recently promoted was John O. Nilsen, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nauman Nilsen, Route 1, Stone Ridge, received an early promotion to Army pay grade private E-2 on completion of basic combat training at Fort Dix, N. J., June 10. He was awarded the promotion two months earlier than is customary because of his score in firing the M-14 rifle, high score on the physical combat proficiency test and his military bearing and leadership abilities. The early promotion program is an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees. Nilsen is a 1957 graduate of Kingston High School.

Receives Promotion

Dominick Polizzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Polizzi, Marlboro, was promoted June 9 to Army specialist five in Germany. Specialist five is an enlisted rank equivalent to the rank of sergeant.

Polizzi, assigned as a medical specialist in Headquarters Troop, 2d Reconnaissance Squadron, 2d Armored Cavalry Regiment, entered the Army in August 1963. He arrived in Germany on this tour of duty in March 1966. The 21-year-old soldier attended Marlboro High School.

Sharot Returns

Seaman Stewart J. Sharot, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sharot of 153 TenBroeck Avenue, has returned to San Diego, Calif., with the heavy guided missile cruiser USS Canberra after four months of combat operations off the coast of Viet Nam. During her deployment, the Canberra constantly shelled enemy shore emplacements, and supported various troop movements.

Ecumenical Cybernetics
HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Even the computer has gone ecumenical here. At Grace Lutheran Church, an automatic printer produced individual letters to members at the rate of 600 lines a minute, with a Baptist serving as processing manager, a Roman Catholic as programmer, a United Church member as key puncher and a Gospel Church member as computer operator.

Kipper is really the proper name for a male salmon when he is approaching the breeding season. He then develops a sharp, hard beak known as the "kip." The word kipper is derived from this from the practice of curing the kip for food by splitting, cleaning, salting and smoking it. The term is now used for other fish, especially herring.

Quit Viet, Is Cry

with placards protesting the Viet Nam war

Across the street, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball told a crowd of 2,000 standing outside Independence Hall that the United States was fighting so that South Vietnamese "may enjoy the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Barry Goldwater told 39 college students outside his home in Phoenix, Ariz., that "we're sick and tired of seeing our men killed" in Viet Nam. But before American troops were drawn, the Communists must be made to realize "we mean business," the 1964 Republican presidential candidate declared.

Elsewhere: Hamburg—Police used rubber clubs and hoses to repel about 500 demonstrators who tried to storm the U.S. Consulate.

Munich — Police dispersed a mob which after a protest rally threw rotten eggs and stones at the U.S. Consulate.

Bonn—Rain doused a pacifist group's attempt to picket the U.S. Embassy where many high German officials attended the Independence Day reception.

Oslo—Some 500 Norwegian leftists demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy, but Ambassador Margaret Joy Tibbets was away celebrating the day in the whaling port of Sandefjord.

Alaborg, Denmark — Premier Jens Otto Krag was cheered by leftists at the annual Danish-American Fourth of July program when he said his regime opposed "any action by which large populations in North Viet Nam would become the target of bombing." A few listeners jeered when President Johnson's name was mentioned in a prayer.

Youths Fasting

Reykjavik, Iceland—About 50 Communist demonstrators outside the U.S. Embassy where Ambassador James K. Penfield was holding a reception.

Stockholm—Twenty youths fasting in protest against the U.S. bombings sat on a street adjoining the U.S. Embassy where 200 police stood guard.

Singapore — Authorities arrested 12 pro-Communists and broke up plans for a second day of demonstrations against the war. Twenty-seven were arrested Saturday when about 700 demonstrated.

Montreal—Police clashed with about 175 pickets denouncing U.S. "murders" in Viet Nam. Several demonstrators tried to take up positions on the steps of the U.S. Consulate.

U. S. Toll Hits accident prevention work, we at the council have never been more confident than we are today that the years ahead will see increasingly greater safety on our roads.

The worst single accident of the period took 10 lives Sunday 30 miles west of Tucson, Ariz. Two cars collided head on and all of the occupants, Arizona Indians, were killed.

Several other multiple-death crashes swelled the count.

Two Crashes Kill 11
In Arkansas two separate accidents within five hours Sunday killed 11 persons. The first accident, a three-car crash near Blytheville, killed six. A head-on crash five hours later near Benton killed five more.

Earlier, the Safety Council had warned that "if traffic deaths continue at their present rate, the (death toll) will exceed not only last year's Fourth of July, but possibly the Labor Day weekend of 1965."

The 1965 Labor Day weekend was the worst summer holiday for traffic fatalities with 575 killed.

Last Fourth of July, also a three-day holiday, took 551 lives in traffic accidents, while the four-day July 4 celebration in 1965 brought 557 highway deaths.

A record was set this year during the three-day New Year Holiday when 564 died in traffic mishaps. Another record was set during the three-day Memorial Day observance when 542 died.

Boy Scout News

Ashokan Scouts Hold Anniversary Campfire Meeting

Last Wednesday, Boy Scout Troop 63, Ashokan, celebrated its 30th year of Scouting with a campfire ceremony in the field behind the Scoutmaster's house in Shokan.

Prior to the campfire, each patrol demonstrated a phase of Scouting. The Golden Hawk Patrol under the leadership of Roger Adsit demonstrated tent pitching while the Moose Patrol under the leadership of Paul Dolce showed its skill in axmanship. Junior Assistant Scoutmasters Roy Olsen and Michael Hereth prepared bisquits, sassafras tea and a cherry pie over the open fire.

The campfire was opened with a torchlighting ceremony under the leadership of Michael Hereth. Various awards were given out by members of the troop committee. John Adsit and Roger Adsit received attendance awards for the third straight year; Roy Olsen received a second year attendance award and James Adsit and Paul Dolce were awarded the first year attendance award. Service stars were presented to the following boys: one year of service to James Adsit, Cliff Secor and Walter Arzuga; two years to Douglas Bell, Robert Davidson and Lee Denmen; three years to John Adsit, Roger Adsit and Paul Dolce; and five year awards to Roy Olsen and Michael Hereth. Senior Scout stripes were awarded to Paul Dolce, Roger Adsit and Walter Arzuga. James Adsit was advanced to second class by committee chairman Charles Holt and Michael Hereth was awarded the nature merit badge.

During the charter presentation, Herbert Wells, representing the sponsor, American Legion Olive Memorial Post 1627, gave some highlights from Troop 63's 30 years of Scouting. A new troop flag bearing the 30-year veteran emblem was also presented during the ceremony.

Members of the Green Bar presented some of the highlights from the Troop log book and reflected back into the past year. The campfire was closed with the singing of the Scout vespers song.

Reporter Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., has named John J. Omicinski, a reporter for the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, as his new executive assistant.

Horton, of Rochester, appointed Omicinski Monday. Omicinski will resign from the newspaper, where he has been a reporter for nearly three years.

Omicinski was born in Syracuse, attended secondary schools there and was graduated from the Syracuse University School of Journalism in 1961.

Minimize Differences

Opening the conference earlier today, Shima and Rusk both referred to differences between their governments on some questions but minimized the effect.

"This diversity," said Rusk, "adds to the strength and durability of our partnership—provided that we never forget that we have some vital common interests in freedom, security and peace."

"The basic policies and objectives in the international community of the two countries are the same," said Shima, adding that mutual respect for the positions of each would "develop a partnership for international cooperation."

Much of the conference is to be devoted to economic questions, and the U.S. delegation included Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The Japanese leftists mustered 5,000 demonstrators outside the Osaka Airport for Rusk's arrival from Formosa Monday, but 4,500 police kept them well away from the airport and the secretary's motorcade escaped by a back gate.

Oppose Wilson Measure

LONDON (AP) — Left-wing Laborites and key union leaders are teaming up to fight a proposal by Prime Minister Harold Wilson to fine companies and union members that don't restrict wages and prices to the rise in national production.

Many union leaders are enraged over the proposed bill. It requires business and unions to submit to a national board demands for higher prices or bigger wages.

The board would decide whether the increases were justified and in line with the rise in national output now averaging 3½ per cent a year. Violators would be subject to fines of up to $1,400.

Starts March to Pool

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A Negro man began his own integration march here Monday by walking about 10 miles — all within the ticket line leading to a segregated swimming pool.

Christopher Thorne, 28, pledged he would return to the pool every weekend through the summer until he matched the 250 miles covered by the recent Mississippi marchers.

Thorne walked 100 times to the ticket window at Rock Lake pool several times with his wife and infant son — and was rejected each time.

State Jaycees Sports Spectacular Starts Here Thursday

Junior athletes from all over New York State will participate in the three-day New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular which opens in Kingston Thursday.

The Sports Spectacular is a prelude to the U. S. Jaycee National competitions held each year in golf, tennis and track and field.

Participating contestants are all winners of Jaycee-sponsored local tournaments and will vie for the chance to represent New York State Jaycees in the Nationals.

Previous state winners from this area forwarded by the Jaycees to the Nationals have included William (Buzzy) Costello and Jordan Pauker in golf; and Miss Kitty Fowler in tennis.

Pauker will be defending his 1965 New York State golf championship in this year's event.

The schedule of events:

(Junior Golf)

July 7—Practice rounds begin at noon at Wiltwyck Country Club.

July 8—36-hole medal play competition begins at 6:30 a. m.

July 9—Final 18-hole competition begins at 8 a. m. The four low scorers will go to the National Jaycees competition in Greensboro, N. C., in August.

Besides Pauker, Kingston will have junior golfers—Tom Gaffney and Bobby Costello.

(Junior Tennis)

July 8—Preliminary matches begin at 8 a. m. at Forsyth Park; semi-final matches at 2:30 p. m.

July 9—Final matches begin at 9 a. m.; consolation division playoffs.

Tennis competition will be for both men and women with the top 4 in each class constituting the New York State teams in the Nationals at Tampa, Florida in August.

Representing the Kingston area in this event are winners of the recent local tournament co-sponsored by the Jaycees and the Kingston Tennis Association—Frank Kruzenski, David Roberts and Patricia Boyd, all of Kingston.

(Track and Field)

July 9—Start of the games, Olympic Parade and opening ceremonies, 10 a. m.

10:30 a. m.—Event preliminaries in the following order: 100 yard dash, discus, 880 yard run, shot put, 220-yard dash, pole vault, mile run, broad jump, 120-yard high hurdles, hop-step jump, 440 yards, high jump, 180 yard low hurdles, 440 relay, 880 relay.

Finals in all events are scheduled to start at 1:45 p. m.

The 12 top scorers in these games will represent the New York State Jaycees in the Nationals at Denver in August.

Representing Kingston area in the games will be: Allan Cotich,

William Clapper, Donald Arthur and John Wams, all of Saugerties; John Tweedy, Bill Buddenhagen, Gary Charlton, Kingston; Glenn Brinkman, Shandaken; Bob Crispell, Olive Bridge; and Fred Wagner, West Hurley.

All winners will be honored at the awards banquet at the Governor Clinton Hotel, tournament headquarters, on Saturday.

The public is invited to attend any of these competitions and see the cream of the New York State junior athletes in action.

6-Under Par

Van Aken's 134 Takes Townley Tournament

Woodstock Ace Fires 69 and 65

Bill Van Aken put together two of the finest successive rounds in his brilliant career to capture the Warren Townley Memorial tournament with a 6-under-par 134 at Woodstock Country Club.

The club champion shaved one stroke off par with 36-33 in Sunday's murderous heat and scorched the village links with 31-34-65, five under par on Monday. The score is believed to be a record for a 36-hole tournament at Woodstock.

The veteran star also accomplished the difficult feat of leading the net division with a 14-under-par 126. He finished 13 shots better than runnerup Rich Hilton, who placed second with 147 and edged Hilton by three strokes in the net division.

Modica Is Third

Joe Modica placed third with 149 gross and 131 net.

Van Aken's card showed 24 pars, 9 birdies and three bogies. The birdies ranged from 6 to 30 feet except on the par-4 eighth hole where he twice spanked his approach shot to within three feet of the cup.

The leaders:

Bill Van Aken, 69-65-134-8-126.

Rich Hilton, (72-75), 147-18-129; Joe Modica (75-74), 149-18-131; Floyd DeWitt (77-78), 155-22-133; Alex Sharpe III (76-82), 158-22-136; Joseph Fitzsimmons (79-81), 170-34-136.

Dick Rydberg (87-78), 165-28-137; Percy Lyons (87-88), 165-28-137; Don Harder (89-90), 179-42-137; Dr. Edmund Tomaselli (91-82), 173-36-137; Anthony Pizzarelli (86-82), 168-30-138; Bob Fredericksen (75-83), 158-20-138; Drew Rubin (73-82), 155-16-139; Don Ferdon (90-87), 177-38-139.

Minasian Wins Cup

Edward Minasian, who is more renowned for his exploits on the gridiron than the fairways, fired a 7-under-par net 63 to win the 1966 President's Cup tournament at the Twaalfskil Club.

Minasian grossed 81 and had 18 strokes handicap to edge veteran Louis J. Smith by a stroke in the holiday feature at the midtown club. Smith posted 77-13-64.

Tied with net 65's were Charles Higgins, 84-17, and Dr. John Olivet, 88-23. Forty-four players, largest entry in the history of the event competed.

Club champion George Hughes posted low gross of 71.

Other scores:

George Schneider, 78-12-66;

Robert Carnright, 77-11-66;

George Beck, 85-19-66; James Gilpatrick, 96-30-66; Robert Reid, 93-26-67; Joseph O'Connor, 79-12-67; Harry Kaprellian, 77-9-68.

Dr. Rodney Ball, 83-14-69; George Hughes, 71-2-69; Joseph Hill, 84-15-69; William Kuehn, 93-23-70; Dr. Joseph Erena, 87-17-70; Dr. Robert McCall, 89-19-70; Frank Campochiaro, 86-16-70.

Herman Glanz, 93-22-71; Paul Coon, 93-22-71; J. Thomas, 94-23-71; Clarence Raichle, 81-9-72; Justice Louis G. Bruhn, 81-9-72; George Svirsky, 85-13-72.

Gilligan Flag Winner

Jack Gilligan used 23 handicap strokes to plant his last shot 20 yards from the 19th hole to win first place in the 4th of July flag tournament.

Bernard Feeney finished second, 27 yards from the 19th hole, with 25 handicap.

Other leaders were:

James Connelly, 20 handicap, 100 yards from 19th hole; Ted Young, 22 handicap, 106 yards from 19th hole; James Berardi, 17 handicap, 116 yards, 19th cup.

Edward Minasian, 18 handicap, in cup on 18th hole; Frank Campochiaro, 16 handicap, 8 feet from cup on 18; William Golden, 23 handicap, 30 feet from 18th cup; James Gilpatrick, 30 handicap, 30 yards from 18th hole; George Schneider, 12 handicap, 35 yards from 18th hole.

Peterson Beats Heat; Chisox, 5-2

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Catfish Hunter beat the heat in the seventh inning but Fritz Peterson didn't cool off until the eighth.

Kansas City's Hunter, working with only two days rest in 95-degree weather at Baltimore Monday, pitched six strong innings as the Athletics snapped the American League-leading Orioles' winning streak at seven with a 9-6 victory.

Yanks Split

New York's Peterson, meanwhile, rivaled the 95-degree temperature at Yankee Stadium by pitching 7 1-3 perfect innings in a 5-2 victory over Chicago that gained the Yanks a split of their holiday doubleheader.

Heat, 20 years old and Kansas City's biggest winner with eight victories, yielded four hits and three runs — two of them unearned — before going out for a pinch hitter in the seventh, when Dick Green's three-run homer gave the A's their winning margin.

Manager Alvin Dark said he hadn't planned on Hunter going all the way because of the heat and the young right-hander's lack of rest. Hunter beat Detroit 6-4 in his previous start last Friday.

Peterson, a 24-year-old rookie, retired the first 22 batters he faced before his own error ended the string and John Romano's single broke up the no-hit bid. He finished with a two-hit bid and his seventh victory in 13 decisions.

Only 87 Pitches

The young left-hander, a fast worker who has said, "I like to get a game over with so I can find out who won," dispatched the White Sox on 87 pitches. Only 20 were called balls.

The White Sox took the sixth game 5-0 behind the six-hit pitching of left-hander Gary Peters.

Elsewhere, the California Angels whipped Detroit 11-6, Minnesota edged Cleveland 5-4 and Washington divided a twin bill with Boston, winning the first game 6-4 and losing the nightcap 1-0.

Skiing: A Sport For All Seasons

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—

The temperature was 95 but that didn't stop Arne Oby from leaping 95 and 108 feet to win the Class A competition Sunday in the 19th annual Summer Ski Jump.

The 35 entrants in three divisions competed over a surface of crushed ice that had been stored in this Adirondack ski resort area since January. The ice melted rapidly under the summer sun, however, and led to several spills.

Oby, representing the Norge Ski Club of Chicago, scored a total of 180.7 points. George Krog of the University of Denver placed second with 174.7 points on leaps of 96 and 113 feet. Max Pelt of the University of Montreal, with 170.3 points, jumped to third place with leaps of 97 and 103 feet.

The longest jump of the day, 115 feet, was posted by Jay Rand Jr. of Lake Placid's Northwood Outing Club. His first attempt ended in a spill.

In other competition:

Class B—Egil Evensen, Bear Mountain, 188.6; Oddvar Ask, Telemark, N.J., 173.9; Corky Colby, Western State College of Colorado, 164.7.

Junior A—Donnie Colby, Lake Placid, 193.7; Art Tokke Jr., Olin Ski Club of New Jersey, 194.3; Pat Morris, Ottawa Ski Club, 189.7.

British Rough Awees Sanders

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP)—

A field of 130 golfers went through their final day of practice today preparing for the British Open Golf Championship.

The 72-hole test over Muirfield's 6,887-yard, par 71 course gets under way Wednesday and the top professionals and amateurs are trying to get the feel of the fairways.

Among those who toured the course Monday were Doug Sanders, Julius Boros, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Sanders was somewhat surprised at the wild rough which crowds the fairways here.

"Just let me have the lost ball and hay concession and I'll be the leading money winner," he cracked.

Boros, nursing an injured elbow, hesitated to challenge the roughs.

"I got into the rough but hit another ball each time rather than play out of it," Boros explained. "I don't want to aggravate the injury."

Nicklaus and Player spent Monday in 18 holes of match play against two teen-agers, British Amateur champ Bobby Cole of South Africa and Pete Townsend of Britain.

The pros won, 2-and-1, but both were impressed by the youngsters.

"Those kids are just great," enthused Player.

"That boy Cole has real method," said Nicklaus. "And Townsend hits the ball very far for a skinny kid."

Holiday Bettors Jam Race Tracks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A $4.5-million handle at Hollywood Park led the betting action Monday as Fourth of July horseplayers jammed the nation's thoroughbred race tracks.

A total of 320,096 person attended 18 major tracks and bet total of $24,214,152. Last year, a poll of 23 tracks counted 459,243 fans who bet $30,482,553.

At Hollywood, the day's largest crowd, 56,752, bet $4,537,543. At New York's Aqueduct, 44,425 persons bet $3,957,965.

The Hollywood total fell short of last year's July 4 handle, which went above $5 million for the first time. Last year's betting at the Big A also was more than $5 million.

Braves Bomb Newburgh Rookie Stars, 16 to 3

Bach Fans 14

The Kingston Braves bombed four Newburgh Rookie League All-Star pitchers for 17 hits and a 16-3 victory at Dietz Stadium Saturday night.

Brian Bach started and went all the way for the locals, striking out 14 and walking seven.

Bach had no problems with the Newburgh powerhouse except for Micky Amlick, who got three of the eight hits Bach allowed including a booming home run.

Bach had a double as did Paul Natalie and center fielder Dave Horton for the Braves. Horton had a fine night at the plate, getting four hits in six appearances. John Leonetti had a double for Newburgh.

Dennis Robinson started for Newburgh but was quickly routed as the Braves got two runs in the first. A nine run outburst in the bottom of the eighth inning sewed up the game for Kingston.

Bach pitched shutout ball for eight innings but apparently tired in the ninth when the All-Stars scored all their runs.

Schwebel Returns

Sport Club Humbles Champ Shamrocks, 4-3

No German-American Association soccer team has yet beaten the Kingston Sports Club at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field.

Not even the 1966 champion Shamrocks of New York, who were humbled 4-3, in the searing heat Sunday at the Morgan Hill retreat. The setback was the second straight for the champions at Oehler's.

It was like old times for the Kickers, as Reiner Schwebel made a triumphant return to the scene of former glories.

The veteran ace put the Kickers ahead, 3-1, at the 56-minute mark and after Shamrock crashed through for the equalizers at 3-3, he booted home the winning goal at the 68-minute mark.

Kingston's defense, particularly the brilliant young goal tender, Tino Lickoski, withstood heavy pressure from the Shamrocks in the closing minutes.

Score in 40 Seconds

The Kickers stunned their guests 40 seconds after the opening kickoff when Harry Wendland booted the ball through the uprights. Joe Faccioli scored on the end of a fine combination to put Kingston ahead 2-1 at half-time. Then came the Schwebel heroics.

Kingston's defensive line of Lee Roberts, Winfried Sodermann and Peter Fuchs was outstanding. Despite the three Shamrock goals, Lickoski's goal tending was superb for the Kickers.

The Sport Club's reserves defeated the Hoboken reserves, 5-2, in a preliminary game. All interested players are urged to attend practice sessions every Wednesday at Oehler's. The monthly meeting of the club is also scheduled Wednesday.

The Kingston lineup:

Goal—Lickoski; RFB—Roberts; LFBZ—Schwebel; RHB—Fuchs; CHB—Sodermann; LHB—Alexander; OR—Wendland; IR—Simoni; CF—Ventriglia; IL—Faccioli; OL—Reinhart.

Subs—B. Newmershinsky. Referee—Ulfig; Manager—Graves.

Pee Wee Tigers Maul Mets, 21-14

Ron Perry hit for the circuit plus one, he had two home runs, as the Tigers downed the Mets, 21-14 in a Pee Wee League slugfest.

Home runs were sailing all over the park with Tim Ferraro, Kevin Bockleemann, John Klomowski and Dave Naccarato getting one each.

Perry Gallo got the win for the Tigers with John Kwasnowski taking the loss.

Dale's Crushes McConekey, 22-15

Traffic got pretty heavy around home plate in the Saugerties Softball League as Dale's Sunoco downed the McConekey Funeral Home, 22-15 to sink the Mouners deeper into the cellar of the league.

Fred Francello, who carries a mean stick but can't seem to get a break pitching, took the loss, his third of the season against no wins. Maurice Hinchey got the win in relief of W. Sparling and Darrell Johnson. McConekey's is now 0-7.

Dale's won the game with a 12 run rally in the sixth inning. Dan Dargan had a homerun for the winners; Al Hardlicka and Francello had triples. Rich Winnie had a pair of doubles for McConekey.

Santo Gets Four Hits; Cubs Split

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

A plastic shield covers Ron Santo's left cheek, but National League pitchers could use a cover to shield them from Santo.

The All-Star third baseman returned to the Chicago line-up Monday for the first time since June 26 and rapped four hits in six at-bats as the last-place Cubs split a doubleheader with second-place Pittsburgh.

Santo collected two singles and a homer in the Cubs' 7-5 first-game loss, then came back with a run-scoring single that snapped a tie and sent the Cubs to a 6-4 victory in the second game called because of darkness after 7½ innings.

String at 27
The hits extended Santo's consecutive game streak to 27, which is the longest in the majors this season and which ties the Cub record set by Hack Wilson in 1929.

The 26-year-old slugger accomplished all that in his first appearance since a pitch from New York's Jack Fisher fractured his left cheek bone June 26.

"The doctor said if I could see I could play," said Santo, whose cheek was protected by a special plastic shield. "My left eye looks pretty bad, but I could see. Some of the Pirates kept asking, 'Boy, that eye looks bad. Can you see out of it?'"

"I guess I proved it could," Santo especially proved it in the seventh inning of the nightcap with two Cubs on base, the game tied 4-4 and darkness moving in on lightless Wrigley Field.

"I set myself to hit Don Cardwell's first pitch if it were anywhere near the plate," Santo related. "It was getting dark and I knew in my own mind that the umpires were going to call the game. His first pitch was a fast ball, and I let go at it. It was a great thrill."

Averaging .319
The single increased Santo's average to .319, fifth best in the league, and gave him an average of .388 during his streak, which started June 1.

In other NL games, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 6-2 before losing 3-2, Los Angeles nipped Cincinnati 2-1, Atlanta edged Houston 3-2 and New York swept Philadelphia 9-6 and 8-1.

Mets Maul Yankees, 4-0

Bob Byman pitched a 8-hit shutout and Charlie Yankergue smashed a triple as the Mets downed the Yanks in a Hurley Little League game.

Ken Hoffstatter pitched well for the Yankees, allowing only three hits. However, he passed eight and the Mets took full advantage of them.

Sanford Bombs 278 In Summer Loop

Ben Sanford had the crowd roaring at Woodstock Lanes with a booming 278 beginner. Ben came right back with a 246 then coasted in with 183 and 195 to set a new league high of 902.

Tom Bernardino was the only other qualifier with a 244-837 string. Results: Steak Eaters 2, Jim's Jonahs 2; Will's Wompers 3, Tom's Terrors 1; Bob's Boggles 2, Chuck's Chuckers 2; Batmen 2, Holt's Hoppers 2; Don's Dumpers 3, No Can Do's 1.

Knicks' Clinic At New Paltz

New York Knickerbockers today opened their annual series of basketball clinics for summer campers at Camp Kewanee, New Paltz, N. Y. The Knicks are scheduled at Briarwood in New Paltz on Wednesday.

Approximately 10,000 youngsters will be instructed in basketball fundamentals by a group of Knicks at 31 sites in New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Clark Reins Pair Mighty M Firsts

MONTICELLO — Charlie Clark, a native of Lexington, Ky., was never seen in these parts until last week. But a holiday crowd of approximately 7,500 Monticello Raceway fans aren't likely to forget him in a hurry.

Clark, who just shipped in to the Mighty M last week, started two horses on the fireworks card and won with both. With Arabesque, his final winner, the victory was especially significant since it was in the evening's featured race, a trot for a purse of $2,500.

Clark started his night's work in the second by scoring with three-year-old Treachery. He reined the daughter of Tar Heel-Armour Hanover to a half length win in 2:09.3.

Two races later, Clark sent Arabesque to the front at the outset and was never headed thereafter to connect in 2:05.4. It was the first win of the year for the four-year-old daughter of Scotch Victor-Fleeting Star in four tries.

Owned by W. R. and Madeline Sheehan of Ann Arbor, Mich., Arabesque returned $10.60, 4.80 and 3.80 across the board. The bay mare's winning margin was a half length also.

The 5 and 4 Daily Double paid $18.00. Adios Topper won the first before Treachery registered in the second.

Twin Double returned $1,347.60. Winning combination was 1-6-4-3. There were 29 live tickets.

The Perfecta paid $139.80. Winning combination was 8-2. A crowd of 7,908 was on hand to wager $487,461.

Walden Dog Show Draws Top Field

The 9th Annual Dog Show of the Walkill Kennel Club will be held Sunday, July 10, at Bradley's Field in Walden. Nearly 900 dogs from states and Canada will compete for trophies, cash awards and championship points.

A panel of 30 well known breed and obedience judges will officiate. Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick will present the Best in Show trophy to the winner.

Congressman Resnick has been very active in humane work and is the co-author of a bill now before congress designed to prevent the "dog-napping" of pets for sale to research labs.

The largest single breed entries are Basset Hounds with 60 and German Shepherd Dogs with 60. The Patron Basset Hound Club is holding its Specialty Show in conjunction with the Walkill Kennel Club event.

There are 43 Irish Setters, 33 Doberman Pinschers, 31 Dachshunds, 22 Saint Bernards, 22 Labrador Retrievers, 22 Shetland Sheep Dogs among the larger entries. Obedience Trial Classes have increased substantially over last year.

Steadily increasing entries have pushed the Walkill Kennel Club show into the foreground of the summer dog show circuit according to Ivan Kapper of Gardiner, N. Y., show chairman, and it is now one of the largest outdoor shows in the East. The show will be open to the public from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Adios Vic Takes Devlin in 2:01

MONTICELLO — The hottest afternoon of the Sullivan County summer greeted a holiday crowd that came to Monticello Raceway Saturday for the afternoon portion of the track's first doubleheader program. And, one of the hottest finishes in the nine-year history of the scenic mountain oval materialized in the day's feature, the $17,265 F. E. Devlin Challenge Pace.

Not more than two noses separated Adios Vic, Rivaltime and Gee Lee Hanover at the wire as the decision went to the former in a creditable 2:01.2. However, the margin could have been less for it took the judges some two minutes to study the photo.

Adios Vic, a son of Adios-Misa Credabelle, has reputedly experienced trouble with the tight turns on a half-mile track. He did have a few problems in the turns today but in the stretches, he was a terror and that's what gained him the major share of the Devlin plum.

Easterners Win Again in Tennis

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — For the second consecutive year, Eastern juniors are the holders of the Tilton Bowl awarded each year in a followup event to the New York State Junior and Boys' Tennis tournament.

The juniors won five of six events Saturday to defeat their Middle States rivals, 6-3, on the courts of the Tennis Club of Rochester.

The Middles States contingent, however, dominated the doubles play, winning two of three matches.

Steve Siegel of Teaneck, N.J., crowned 18-and-under champion Friday in the tournament, set the pace for the East as he defeated Mike Mullan of Springfield, Pa., 6-1 and 6-2. Dave Werchen of Whitestone, N.Y., runner-up to Siegel in the state tournament, defeated Joe Brooke of Beaver, Pa., 6-6, 6-1 and 6-2.

John Adams of Haverford, Pa., was the only Middles States victor in singles play, beating Scott Crawford of Scarsdale, N.Y., 2-6, 6-1 and 6-1.

NEWSPAPER ENTERTAINMENT

Ready to Stop

Hurd, said the agreed version would not be made public until this afternoon, shortly before the Legislature's action on the voluminous, 250-page measure.

Informal sources reported, however, that the compromise version would reflect cuts of about $100 million, placing the final figure at $260 million.

Adoption of the measure will raise state spending for the current fiscal year beyond the $4-billion mark for the first time. The main budget appropriated $3.96 billion for the current year.

Among other things, the measure provides for a $2,000 increase in the legislators' "lulus" — their expression for the $1,000 allowance received each year "in lieu of" making a detailed account of expenses.

Legislative leaders of both parties agreed to the increase in consideration of the abnormal length of this year's session.

Longest Since 1911
In recent years, the annual session has run for three months, from January through March. But the 1965 Legislature set a modern longevity record by extending to June 23.

This year's session, surpassing the 1965 version, became the longest since 1911 — which ran to Oct. 6 — and the third longest in legislative history, dating back to 1777.

The demand placed on the time of rank-and-file lawmakers also prompted clamoring in the ranks for an increase in their $10,000 annual salary.

By law, the legislators may raise their own expense allowances, but any pay increase cannot take effect until a new Legislature takes office, in January 1967.

Travis introduced a bill Saturday calling for a $5,000 pay raise — lifting the salary to $15,000.

Indicates Brydges' Assent
He told The Associated Press Monday that he was confident his house would approve the measure and that the Senate would go along. A spokesman for Brydges, who has been reluctant to vote pay raises in this election year, indicated Brydges probably would assent.

At one time, Travis had suggested that, if the legislators' pay were raised, the "lulu" system would be abolished. But he said Sunday that that question would be left to the 1967 Legislature to decide.

Meanwhile, in the adjournment rush, Travis renewed efforts to work out a compromise plan for replacing the Condon-Wadlin law with a more workable statute designed to deter strikes by public employees.

The two houses had passed rival bills, alike in their collective bargaining and mediation provisions but differing sharply in proposed penalties for violators. The GOP favors stricter penalties.

The Condon - Wadlin law seldom has been invoked, because employers regard its penalties as too harsh.

Among bills that fell by the wayside in the adjournment drive were measures that would establish more State Supreme Court judgeships and lay down guidelines for reapportionment of county boards of supervisors and city councils.

GOP and Democratic leaders were unable to reach agreement on these issues.

Dies of Injuries

JOHNSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Bryan Dodge, 45, of Little Falls, died today in Johnstown Hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when his automobile left Route 10 and struck a tree about seven miles west of here.

Note City Mishaps

Gristmill Road, Tillson, was charged with malicious mischief, after a false alarm was reported sounded from Box 3412, Broadway and Foxhall Avenue, at 2:27 a. m. Sunday. Units from the fire stations and several volunteer companies responded with Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge. Detective Harold DeGraff with officers Richard Spaulding and Albert Brown were also dispatched to the scene.

A call at 1:01 p. m. Monday was for a fire in a truck parked near the Shell service station at Broadway and West O'Reilly Street. The truck was loaded with cardboard boxes and other material and firemen believe the blaze had been deliberately set.

Areas of the truck body and items in a glove compartment were reported damaged. Firemen from Central Station responded with Capt. Harry L. Silks in charge. The gas station, owned by John Rinaldo, of 75 Harding Avenue, was closed for the holiday. Firemen said the truck was owned by Sam Marino, but his address was not determined.

Charged with violations of the fireworks law were: Fred J. Curry, 18, of 618 Broadway; Kevin Guidy, 16, of 29 Rogers Street and Henry Paul, 16, of Box 14, Hurley. The latter was booked after police were notified of the discharging of firecrackers at Academy Green.

Doctors' Ambulance reported a call at 6:25 p. m. to Forsyth Park where Mrs. Catherine Guarino, 50, of the Bronx, had apparently been taken with a heartstroke. She was given emergency oxygen treatment and was taken to Kingston Hospital. She had been discharged from the hospital before this date.

Andrew J. Murphy III, local recreation director, notified loquac at 9:46 a. m. Monday that the float at Kingston Point Beach had been cut loose from its moorings and apparently set adrift in the Hudson. An Escopus woman reported Monday afternoon that she had seen an object resembling a float headed downstream, but sheriff's men were unable to find trace of it.

A "small amount" of liquor was reported taken in a burglary at the Twaalfeldt Club, West O'Reilly Street, and an attempt was made to enter a cigarette machine. Entrance was gained through a rear window. The theft was reported Monday morning.

In another burglary reported Sunday morning an unknown amount of cigarettes, soda and beer, and cash from a register, 17 East Union Street. Entrance was gained through a rear window.

Police were notified Monday of the theft of copper tubing from a vacant house on East Union Street in the downtown urban renewal area.

William Wright, 49, of 21 East Pierpont Street, was charged with second degree assault Sunday for allegedly having struck Alice Jones, of the same address, in the face with the back of a pocket knife. City court hearing today was put over to Wednesday. Bail fixed at $2,000 cash, or $4,000 property, was not immediately posted.

Of the others booked over the weekend on charges, Tanti-dice, charged with sounding the false alarm failed to appear and a warrant was issued.

Hearing of Joseph Washington, one of the two charged with driving while intoxicated, was put over to Wednesday. The other, Chatmon Edwards is due to appear again July 8.

Of the three held on fireworks charges, Fred Curry, who had recently appeared in court on another charge, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, which was the balance of a recent 30-day sentence, and which had been suspended after he was given credit for time served. The former charge dealt with setting fire to an old car.

Of the other two, Henry Paul, 16, of Box 14, Hurley, is to appear in court again July 12 and Kevin Guidy is to be treated as a youthful offender.

Booked on two charges over the weekend was James Pascoe, 20, of Charter Oak Road, Ariz. He was charged with operating an unregistered motorcycle with inadequate lights and is due to appear in court later this week.

Bolivia Elects Air Force Head To Be President

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A U.S. Air Force product who waged Bolivia's first political campaign by helicopter is scheduled to become his country's president Aug. 6.

Air Force Gen. Rene Barrientos, 47, won an overwhelming victory in Sunday's presidential election. The latest revised tabulation gave his Bolivian Revolutionary Front — the FRB — 191,000 votes to 115,000 for the combined opposition.

Running Mates Win
Barrientos' vice-presidential running mate, Luis Adolfo Siles, and most FRB candidates for the 129-member Congress also were elected, but the right-of-center Christian Democratic Community got enough votes to win the seats which the constitution guarantees to the minority.

Born in the small town of Tarata in central Bolivia, Barrientos was an Air Force student at Randolph Field, Tex., and was graduated in 1953. He joined President Victor Paz Estenssoro's Nationalist Revolutionary Movement — MNR — and in a few years soared from captain to general and command of the air force.

In 1953 he launched a vigorous campaign for the MNR's vice-presidential nomination after Paz Estenssoro changed the constitution to allow his own re-election to the presidency. Despite Paz Estenssoro's opposition, the MNR convention in January 1954 named the general to the second place on the ticket.

Was Wounded
A month later Barrientos was wounded in an attempt on his life and was hospitalized in the Panama Canal Zone. After his recovery, he was elected with Paz Estenssoro in May. Then in November he and the commander of the armed forces, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, set up a junta with themselves as copresidents.

Barrientos is an extrovert prone to long speeches to the people, often in Quechua, the language of the peasants in the valleys. Eight attempts on his life have been recorded, but his political enemies claim some of them were rigged.

Political circles predicted the military would give Barrientos six months to two years to make good on his promises of economic and social development.

NEW CITIES for new millions

With the nation's population burgeoning, a private organization has come up with an ambitious proposal to solve an increasingly pressing problem of public planners — what to do for living space for the tens of millions of new Americans forecast in the next few decades. The Committee for National Land Development Policy suggests nothing less than building a score or more brand-new million-plus cities in still sparsely settled areas, away from existing urban concentrations where facilities already are strained and space for orderly expansion is almost exhausted. Here is an artist's conception of the new model city outlined by the committee, composed of leaders in business, construction, banking and services throughout the nation.

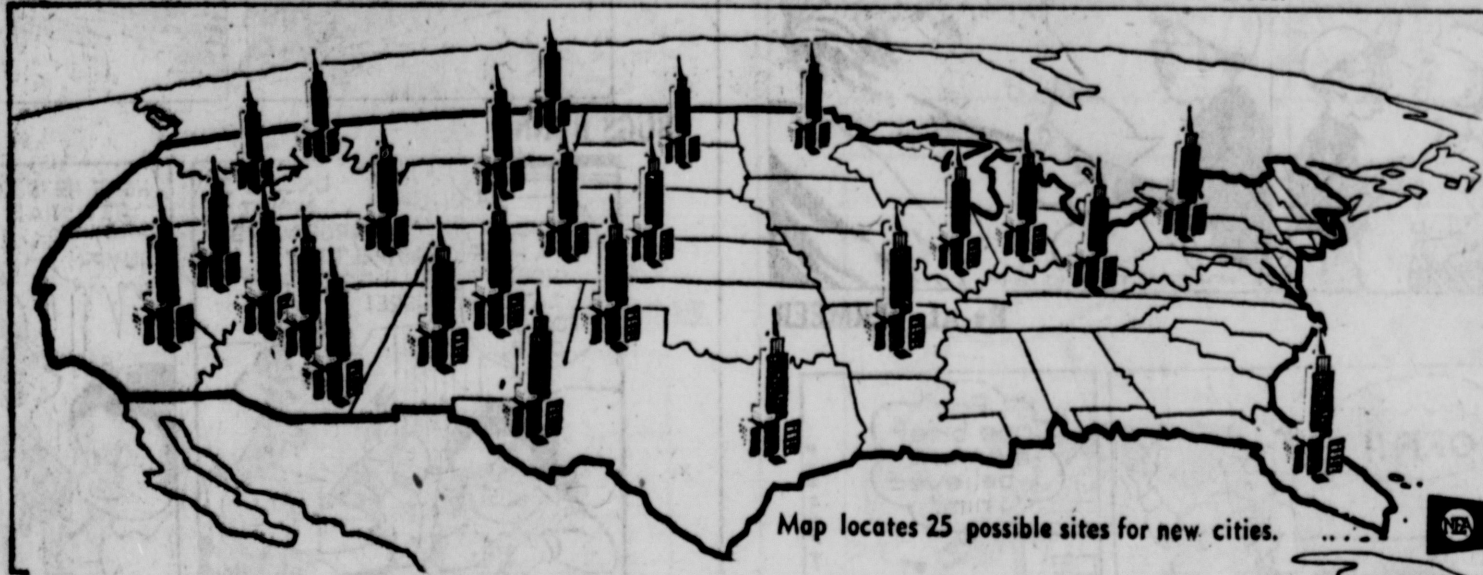

A model new city would consist of a central business core (1) surrounded by "subcities" (2) with populations between 100,000 and 150,000 each and containing residential areas, industry and retail stores.

Industry would go underground with multilevel factories.

Rail, road and utility supply lines would feed directly into the subsurface factories. Rapid transit systems, also underground, would link residential and business areas.

Map locates 25 possible sites for new cities.

Signs to Meet Clay

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — European champion Karl Mildenberger of West Germany signed a contract today to meet Cassius Clay in a world title bout in Frankfurt's soccer stadium Sept. 10.

The signing took place in an office at Frankfurt's airport just before Mildenberger flew to London for a meeting with James Astraire, who holds the world television rights for the fight.

Mildenberger agreed to a share of 15 per cent of the total receipts from the fight. Joachim Goettfert, the German promoter, said Clay had signed the contract in New York last Friday.

Clay first has to defend the championship against Britain's Brian London in England on Aug. 6.

Should Clay retain the title against London, the Frankfurt bout will represent the first world heavyweight championship fight to be held in Germany.

Sukarno had maintained that as the chief executive he was the rightful man to form his Cabinet under the constitution.

Congress' action is aimed at giving Suharto power to establish the Cabinet for a two-year transitional period.

Suharto received his power at the height of tension in this country as a result of public protests against the old regime and the pro-Communist coup attempt Oct. 1.

The key question remaining was whether Sukarno would agree to give up his power to Suharto. If he does he is nothing more than a figurehead president.

The hard line move against Sukarno's authoritative powers came on the heels of major movements of troops into central and east Java to ward off feared outbreaks of violence.

East and central Java are strongly for Sukarno.

Order Sukarno To End Authority, Stripped of Title

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's Congress today ordered President Sukarno to relinquish his authority to form a new Cabinet and took away his title of president for life.

Red Flag, theoretical journal of the party, accused them of following an opportunist course counter to the views of party chief Mao Tse-tung.

Has No Authority
Romanians have said privately that Gheorghe now has no authority over their 200,000 troops and they have no intention of giving him any.

Instead, it seemed to have been blown up by Ceausescu's opening speech.

There was no confirmation of this from the secret session. But the grave looks on the faces of Brezhnev and Ceausescu when they left the palace separately indicated trouble.

Weather Rages In Midwest as East Bakes Hot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes, severe thunderstorms, hail and high winds hit Minnesota Monday night as the torrid East, baked by several days of 100-degree heat, cooled to seasonable temperatures.

Numerous funnel clouds and tornadoes were sighted in the area between Fargo, N.D., and St. Cloud, Minn. Winds up to 70 miles an hour ripped through St. Cloud uprooting many trees in the area. The highway patrol reported that U.S. 10 east of the town was blocked by fallen timber.

Hail Pounds Town

Hail as large as softballs pounded the town of Detroit Lakes, Minn. Large chunks of ice broke countless windows and dented many cars. Drenching rains, estimated at 3.5 inches, accompanied the hail.

A tornado warning for central and southeast Minnesota and northwest Wisconsin remained in effect early this morning.

Meanwhile, the East was receiving from a blazing sun that had brought temperatures to a record of 103 at Philadelphia Monday. It was the first time in 95 years of record keeping that the mercury was 100 or better for three straight days in that city.

At Harrisburg in central Pennsylvania the mercury hit 104 Monday after a scorching 107 on Sunday.

Temperatures in upstate New York, well over the 100 mark in many areas Sunday, moderated to the 80s and 90s Monday and to the upper 60s and low 70s Monday night.

Some 340,000 residents in 11 Buffalo, N.Y., suburbs faced a severe water shortage and strict bans on unnecessary use of water.

Pool Integration Fails in Lawton

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—An

Independence Day effort to integrate the only swimming pool in this city of 61,000 persons in southern Oklahoma ended in failure.

Fifty-five of the chanting, marching demonstrators were headed off to jail where 38 adults were charged with trespassing on complaints signed by Ben Hutchins Sr., owner of the segregated private Doe Doe recreation park, Monday.

Seventeen of the demonstrators were juveniles. They were released to the custody of their parents.

The privately owned park has been the target of integration attempts for a month.

The 38 demonstrators, mostly Negroes, posted $20 bonds and were scheduled for court appearances at 1 p.m. Friday. They included two white Roman Catholic priests who have participated in earlier integration attempts at the park—the Rev. Al Kelly and the Rev. William Hayden.

Negroes have been trying to integrate the park since last month when the Oklahoma City chapter of the NAACP sponsored a 90-mile Oklahoma City-to-Lawton protest march.

Admiral Thinks

zation in Canberra, Australia. He said he talked at length with Westmoreland in Saigon.

Assessing the recent air strikes against fuel depots near Haiphong, and the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi, Sharp said the raids are having the desired effect.

The admiral said his talks with Westmoreland touched on the Buddhist upheavals in the south, and he observed the demonstrations had now "calmed down."

Sharp said South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky had done "absolutely the right thing" to quell the Buddhist uprisings. He said Ky used "the minimum amount of force necessary to keep the country 'lined up' and under control."

"Ky did a marvelous job," Sharp said.

Push Air Attacks

that an HUIID helicopter was shot down by Viet Cong ground fire in the South six miles southwest of Vin Long city and about 75 miles southwest of Saigon. A spokesman said he had no report on the fate of the crew, normally two to four men.

Hit Troop Camp Area

Air Force B52 bombers struck at two enemy targets 35 miles south of Da Nang. One was a Viet Cong troop area and the other a headquarters camp. The raids were six miles south of B52 raids Sunday and Monday.

Elsewhere over the South Monday, U.S. and Vietnamese pilots flew 568 combat sorties — single strikes by single planes — killing possibly 130 Viet Cong and destroying or damaging nearly 700 structures, a spokesman said.

Six Cong Captured

A battalion of the U.S. 25th Infantry ended Operation Fort Smith in an area 25 miles northwest of Saigon. The infantrymen killed 19 Viet Cong and captured six in the drive which began June 3.

The U.S. Command also disclosed that the 183rd Airborne Brigade had been conducting a multibattalion sweep — Operation Yorktown — 40 miles north-east of Saigon — since June 23, in the only flareup of fighting, the paratroopers killed 23 Viet Cong in a two-hour battle Sunday, a spokesman said. American casualties were reported light.

Planes Drive Off Reds

About 500 guerrillas raked the Trai Bi Special Forces camp 65 miles northwest of Saigon and eight miles from the Cambodian border with small-arms, and mortar fire for an hour and a half Monday until air strikes drove the Communists off. A U.S. spokesman reported light casualties among the Vietnamese and U.S. Special Forces defenders.

Artillery fire beat back an attack by about 150 Viet Cong against the camp Sunday night. About the same time other guerrillas attacked the Duc Co Special Forces camp 210 miles north of Saigon with no more success. Saturday night, the Viet Cong made a hit-and-run raid on the Plei Djereng Special Forces camp 20 miles farther north.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime bid for more popular support today by installing an 80-member civilian-military advisory council to help the ruling generals govern the country.

The 60 civilians, including two women, came from a cross-section of many anti-Communist groups in South Viet Nam, including southern Buddhists, Roman Catholics and the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai sects. But there was no one from the Unified Buddhist Church, which claims a following of about 2 million. Its leaders waged the recent unsuccessful campaign to oust Ky and his chief of state, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu.

Understanding Reached

The council will join the Cabinet and a so-called War Council in advising the regime but the final power will continue with the directorate or ruling junta.

Heat Cuts Into Supply of Ice At N.J. Resort

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—

During the holiday weekend, when a heat wave blistered Atlantic City with 100-plus temperatures, the resort ran out of ice.

Hardest hit were the city's more than 200 bars and nightclubs.

"We had many customers go away and I don't blame them," said an employee of the Rendezvous bar and lounge.

"I mean, did you ever try to serve a guy who wants a scotch on the rocks with no rocks?"

Roast Roof — 450°

That's hot asphalt being heated in the kettle and Ray Yerry — 14 years with Smith-Parish — checks that the temperature is an exact 450 degrees. From there the asphalt is transferred to a smaller, insulated kettle which continues to maintain the desired temperature until the asphalt is applied to the new roof.

Correct temperature is just but one of the many important steps in the installation of a quality roof. Experienced Smith Parish personnel know the steps; they take no short cuts.

Remember, you might buy a cheaper roof than Smith Parish — but you can't buy better.
